PROGRESS

One word can significantly portray Williston — PROGRESS. The school is constantly making and breaking traditions in an effort to better itself. It is striving, under the leadership of Headmaster Stevens, to provide the best facilities and the best educational opportunities to every Williston student.

Shortly after the arrival of Headmaster Stevens in 1949, Williston moved its campus. Since then, the school has built perhaps one of the finest hockey rinks in New England, a picturesque chapel, and a modern science building. Changes are constantly being made to accommodate new courses and new students, and yet the school will never stand still. Plans are already in the making to provide Williston with a new library and gymnasium.

More important than the physical aspects is the intellectual advancement of the school and its purpose in guiding youth. A few years ago, a humanities course was introduced into the senior schedule. This course is a lecture course given by Williston's Humanities Department, and it is also attended by Northampton School for Girls. The school has inaugurated several new courses in the last few years, and it has expanded the underclass curriculum.

At Williston there is always the opportunity for change and progress. The student body requests changes through the Student Council which in turn discusses the propositions with Headmaster Stevens. More time is being allotted to students to pursue their own interests. An independent study program has been initiated to enable a student to do a project of his own choice.

Though the buildings, faculty, and curriculum might change, the idea of spiritual, intellectual, and physical growth will always remain steadfast. Progress is an essential part of Williston.

A man's ingress into the world is naked and bare, His progress through the world is trouble and care; And lastly, his egress out of the world, is nobody knows where. If we shall do well here, we shall do well there: I can tell you no more . . .

Progress, therefore, is not an accident, but a necessity . . . It is a part of nature.

DEDICATION

It is hard for a dedication to be a sufficient award. It is not only a reminder of the respect that is earned by a person, but also a reminder of the hard work and spirit which prevails from that person. Such respect is due Mr. Westcott E. S. Moulton.

A school is built around hard work, dedication, and spirit. These three qualities can easily portray Mr. Moulton. He makes an extra effort to associate with the students despite the fact that his job as Alumni Secretary keeps him apart from the students until after graduation.

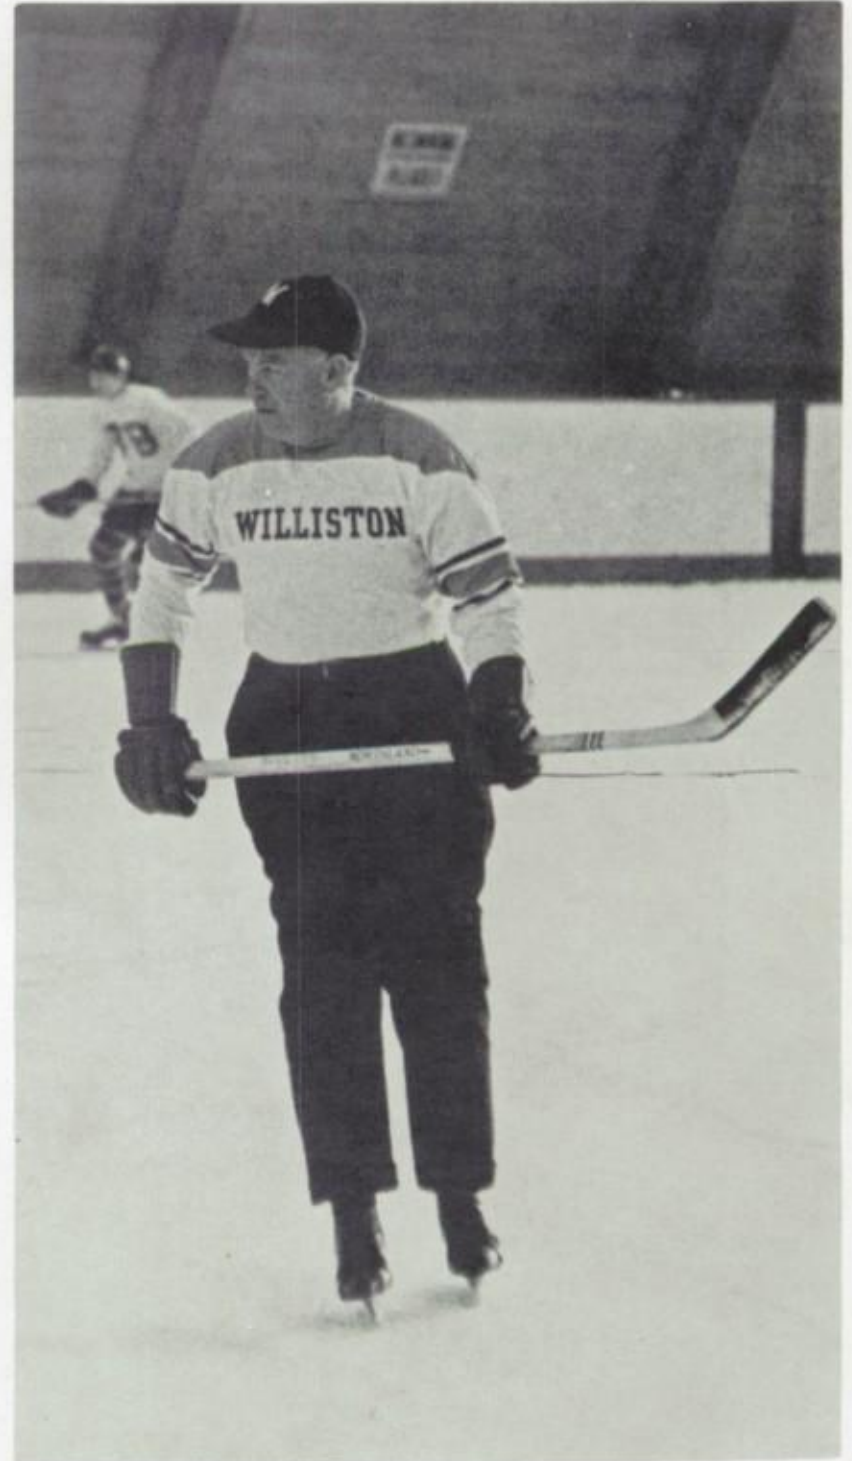

Until this year, Mr. Moulton has been the adviser to the LOG. His dedicated work and help have been contributing factors to the success the LOG has had in the past years. His invaluable assistance to the 1968 LOG staff is greatly appreciated.

Mr. Moulton graduated from Williston in 1927, and the school lost one of the greatest athletes in its history. He went to Brown where he again excelled in athletics, and was an All-American in hockey. His desire to do a good job has obviously carried into his work at Williston where he has set records for fund raising and Alumni support. He played a major role in raising funds for the school's new hockey rink and chapel. Mr. Moulton's work has been a great factor in the progress the school has made.

Mr. Moulton is the type of person who goes out of his way to say hello to someone. His lively spirit and quick wit never fails. Unfortunately, few experience the pleasure of his company except when they sit at his table. At his table, there is never a dull moment with his friendly questions and his accent-on-the-wrong-syllable words.

It is time for Mr. Moulton to be paid the respect that is due to him. It is our pleasure to dedicate the 1968 LOG to Mr. Westcott E. S. Moulton, and we hope he never changes.

EIGHTEEN YEARS OF PROGRESS

It has been said that a school is only as good as its students; the same may be said of its headmaster. A headmaster must earn the respect of everyone in and connected to the school. He must be part of the school and understand the student's needs, yet he must also think in terms of the future. As one class graduates and another class comes into the school, the headmaster must face new problems. Although he must take an active part in the daily life of the school, he must also carry on his work outside of the school, recruiting new faculty and raising funds for new facilities. Such a headmaster is Mr. Phillips Stevens. Through his arduous work, his never ending determination and enthusiasm, Williston has made great progress in the last eighteen years.

The 1950 Log says this of Mr. Stevens: "In his short time as headmaster, Mr. Phillips Stevens has had a phenomenal success in executing the plans which he has set up for the future of Williston . . . His friendliness and affability make him a respected leader. In his enthusiasm and determination to increase the efficiency and usefulness of Williston he has gained the admiration of all."

The progress Williston has made since Headmaster Stevens' arrival is immeasurable. He unified the school on one campus, built new facilities including a new science building, chapel, and hockey rink, and has well prepared Williston for the future. Mr. Stevens has recently initiated a fund-raising drive to build a new library and a new gymnasium, but the facilities are merely the shell of the progress Williston has made. Headmaster Stevens is constantly changing and improving the curriculum, adding new courses and new faculty, and leading the way to improvement of the older courses. He is constantly searching for improvements in the school life for the students. This can be seen by the spirit Headmaster Stevens has generated throughout the school. To list all of his achievements would fill this book. Here we can only express our modest gratitude for the great improvements not only to the school but to us as people. We are confident that Headmaster Stevens will continue to lead Williston to even greater heights.

Since its creation by the original constitution of Williston Seminary in 1841, the Board of Trustees has continued its duty to examine the constitution of Williston which includes the great progress of Williston's physical expansion and academic excellence. The Board of Trustees consists of twenty men, ten life Trustees, five term Trustees, and five alumni Trustees, one of whom is appointed annually for a five-year term by the Alumni Council, subject to the approval of the Board of Trustees. The life and term Trustees are selected and appointed by the Board, which consists of a majority from the alumni body itself.

In addition to electing new teachers and administration, the Board also encourages active alumni participation for the benefit of the school and arranges alumni gatherings throughout the year. It has also been the job of the Board of Trustees to select the headmaster and to see to it that he continues to fulfill his responsibilities.

In co-ordination with the Board of Trustees there is an inner organization called the Prudential Committee which consists of no less than three and no more than five members of the Board of Trustees which submits decisions to the Board itself. This committee is useful when urgent matters require immediate attention and the twenty members of the Board are unable to convene on short notice.

Frederick K. Daggett '25, President of the Board of Trustees, has continued to give unselfishly of himself in the development of the school.

THE BOARD OF OVERSEERS

The Board of Overseers, initiated by Alton Perry '27, continued to play an increasingly important role in the development of the school. The main job of the Board is to survey and study the needs of the school and then pass on, or recommend, ideas to the Board of Trustees, which in turn decides on the future of these ideas.

Twelve new members are elected annually for a three-year term on the Board, and there are no limitations as to who may be elected. Local members have included lawyers, doctors, bankers, police and fire chiefs, and many other important figures in the Western Massachusetts area. Several members of the Board of Trustees have originally gained their reputation on the Board of Overseers and have been promoted to other organizations of direct importance to Williston Academy.

The Chapel, the Master's Rink, and the forthcoming developments of the present gymnasium have been studied and approved by the Board of Overseers. These dedicated people, who come from many parts of the nation, have encouraged many boys to apply to Williston and have carried the good name of the school far and wide. They have taken time from their businesses to meet at the school three times a year to study and discuss all the proposals which have been made. They have been an extraordinary asset to the school, and Williston Academy is that much richer for the devotion that the Board of Overseers has given to the problems of the administration.

MR. BABCOCK AND MR. HEPWORTH BECOME ASSISTANT HEADMASTERS

Mr. Wilmot S. Babcock, taking the title as Assistant Headmaster for Business Affairs, made many changes on the Williston Academy Campus this year. Mr. Babcock has been aiding the school for 25 years, as both a coach of swimming and track and as the director of the financial affairs of the school. Year after year, with his outstanding help as coach, the Williston Academy swim team has been able to be first in New England on the prep school level.

This year the business office has made many changes throughout the campus. Two classrooms, the manual arts room and the graphic arts room, were both relocated on the campus. Two science classrooms in the science building were enlarged to allow a larger enrollment of students in the courses. Williston cottage, with a new $75,000 extension and two new apartments for faculty members, became one of the best dorms on campus. Memorial dormitory also received extensive redecorating. Mr. Babcock is presently planning a new library and an extensive addition to the gym.

Mr. A. L. Hepworth continues to be a major figure in the school. As Assistant Headmaster for Academic Affairs, Mr. Hepworth continues to watch carefully the grades each student receives and to take any action necessary to help each boy obtain a better education. Mr. Hepworth continued to teach two courses of American History to the Senior class and one class of Ancient History to the lower middler class. He also will coach the varsity tennis team this spring.

Mr. Babcock gives friendly wave on way to office.

ALUMNI PARTICIPATION RISES TO A NEW HIGH

The Alumni Office, under the direction of Mr. Westcott E. S. Moulton '27, this year broke several Williston fund-raising records and topped all secondary boarding schools in the percentage of alumni participation, with 65.4% against last year's 62.9%. This percentage also places Williston above most colleges, with only Dartmouth and Princeton ranking higher. For 1966-1967, the Williston Annual Fund reached a new high of $106,673, given by parents, alumni, and friends. The "Alumni Bequest Fund" is a growing source of income to the school with several alumni having already bequeathed a total of $25,000.

In raising funds for Williston, the Alumni office corresponds with 701 alumni agents who represent an alumni body of nearly 3,000 all over the world. The primary communication with the alumni is the Williston Bulletin, which is published four times a year by the Alumni Office and edited by Mr. Moulton. Other duties of the office are arranging alumni club meetings and handling class reunions.

NEW STUDENT AFFAIRS DEPARTMENT

As Director of Student Affairs, Mr. Ellis B. Baker '51 has taken one of the most demanding positions in the school. A graduate of Middlebury College, Mr. Baker today oversees many areas of Williston school life.

With his position, Mr. Baker heads the faculty counseling program throughout the school. The four class advisers, Mr. Brown, Mr. Varnum, Mr. Seybolt, and Mr. Sperry work under Mr. Baker, helping each student with problems which arise throughout the year. Mr. Baker is assisted also by Mr. Goddard and Mr. Wilson. The Student Affairs Office maintains a profile for each student, which records each student's academic and citizenship progress during the year. Mr. Baker continues his concern with English, as he teaches two English IV classes this year. He is also the adviser to the Saturday morning Assembly Steering Committee, the Log, and Dramatic Club, and is one of the advisers to the newly-formed Outing Club. As a general adviser to students, Mr. Baker coordinates the extracurricular program in the school and encourages every boy to take full advantage of what the school offers. In October, Mr. Baker coordinated Williston's Sixth Annual National Education Conference. In addition, he serves as a member of the Board of Directors of the Independent School Association of Massachusetts.

In his continuous effort to help each student and to improve the school, Mr. Baker has continued his loyal service.

ADMISSION OFFICE

This year the Admission Office had more applications than ever before sent in by students from numerous states and foreign countries. Mr. St. George is the director of the Admission Office and is assisted by Headmaster Stevens and Messrs. Francis, Gregory, Baker, and Piazza. The Admissions Office was interested not only in a prospective student's past performance, but also in his personality and ability to add something to the school. Students from thirty states and nineteen foreign countries were present at Williston this year.

Each prospective student was interviewed and given a tour of the campus by a Gold Key member. The Gold Key consists of a group of students selected by Mr. St. George whose sole purpose is to show visitors around the campus. The Gold Key has always been a significant aid and help to Mr. St. George. The Admission Office has the major responsibility of choosing future students, and numerous hours are put in by Mr. St. George and his committee. It should be realized that only a limited number of openings exist, and choosing the right boys for admission to Williston is a very difficult task. The Admission Office's task was a difficult one and of the utmost importance. Mr. St. George and his committee should be commended for their work.

COLLEGE COUNSELOR

Every year the problem of getting the seniors into college has to be met. In order to meet this need, Williston maintains a college counseling department, headed by Mr. Donald Knauf, coach of varsity wrestling and adviser to UMAC. The College Counseling Room is equipped with the materials discussing average SAT scores, courses of study, social life, and in general, the atmosphere of almost every accredited college and university in the country. Most boys start to prepare for applying to college in the Winter Term of the Upper Middler year. They hear brief lectures, given mostly by recent college graduates on the faculty. This system is augmented by the reading material found in the college counseling room and occasional personal appointments with Mr. Knauf in which the student discusses his class rank, activities, and other factors which might influence his college choice. At the end of the Spring Term, a student has usually compiled a list of colleges in which he is interested, and during the summer, most boys go to see their respective first, second, and third choices. By the Fall Term every senior has a well-laid out idea of what colleges he wishes to apply to, and during the thirteen week term, by the end of which seniors have to file formal applications, representatives from over sixty colleges come to see interested seniors for interviews. In 1967, 100% of the senior class was in college by the end of the academic year. This year's seniors hope to repeat this fine performance.

FACULTY

One of the great advantages of a boarding school is that the students are always within reach of the faculty. The faculty at Williston not only teaches, but also coaches and counsels the students. Each student is assigned a faculty adviser, and he frequently meets with him to discuss his grades or any problems that he might have. At Williston, the relationship between the faculty and the students is something less than formal. The faculty is more than just teachers to the students, but are also friends. The students get to know and appreciate the teachers even if they don't have them in class.

This year the faculty has done a great deal to improve school moral. This is partly due to the addition of younger faculty members and also to the great amount of spirit that the faculty has. This year the faculty and the students have worked closer together than ever before. The result is progress. The students, through the student council, presented to the faculty a list of grievances and suggestions which they had after the first term. The faculty reviewed the list and made many improvements and changes to the academic schedule and to the daily routine. This year the students have found that they can work with the faculty to solve their problems.

Each week the faculty meets to discuss their own problems. In this meeting they discuss the academic curriculum and ways to improve it. Each month the faculty goes over the grades of every student, and discusses ways to better the grades of students who are not doing very well. The main purpose of these meetings is to make progress with those students who are not working up to their capability. When we leave Williston, though, we won't remember the teachers for their arduous efforts or their meetings, but rather their nicknames and their spirit and understanding outside of class.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

There were a few significant changes in the English Department this year, concerning mainly the courses themselves. The most important change, other than in the classroom, was the promotion, for one year, of Mr. Alan Shaler to the Head of the Department. This was due to the fact that Mr. Henchey was on Educational Leave studying for his doctorate from the University of Massachusetts.

Mr. Shaler, however, had adequate help from nine other outstanding faculty members. Mr. Randall, Mr. David Stevens, Mr. Thorner, and Mr. Baker took most of the English 4 and 5 classes including Advanced Placement. Messrs. Bower, Cobbs, Bedrosian, Seybolt, and Duggan taught most of the younger students, who learned the basic fundamentals of understanding past and present European, American and English literature. The English 5 Advanced Placement course was composed of Seniors who studied deeper into the varied subjects taught in the regular English 4 course offered.

This year in the English 1 and 2 courses the students were taken off the regular assignment schedule in the winter term and were expected to do more research work on their own. This was an outstanding example of preparation for the harder, more advanced courses to come. The Seniors, meanwhile, were offered a trip to Amherst College to see The Tempest which they studied in the winter term.

A proposal to change the Spring Term curriculum in English 4 was suggested but as of yet no definite decision has been made. This change would see many Seniors studying courses voluntarily such as Contemporary Drama, Modern Fiction and Poetry.

HISTORY DEPARTMENT OFFERS NEW COURSES

This year the History Department was under the leadership of Mr. Edward M. Lawton. For the first year all Upper Middlers were required to take United States History. The Department offered six electives to Seniors of which three were at the advanced placement level. The electives covered Contemporary Issues in Emerging Nations, the Far East and India, Russian Civilization, English History, Cultural and Political Problems in Modern Europe, U. S. History, and Current Issues in America.

The Department made numerous changes, both major and minor, to keep up with new viewpoints and issues in the social sciences. The stress in class was more on student discussions of historical and cultural problems rather than on the teacher's lectures. There were more short research papers than ever before, and the trend was toward understanding the causes for old and modern problems.

Current events were an integral feature of the department's policies. Each History student was encouraged by his master to subscribe to either Time or Newsweek.

The History Department's diversified program gave each student a wide selection of courses which he could take and this is credited mainly to Mr. Lawton. At Williston this year, the History Department continued to justify its reputation for excellence.

MATH DEPARTMENT HAS STRONG NUCLEUS

As in years past, the Mathematics Department has continued to teach math on five different levels. With a strong nucleus of eight teachers and eleven different courses, the students were able to have a very close relationship with the faculty so that conferences could be arranged whenever the help was needed.

This year the Math Department started a new schedule. In previous years the minimum requirements in math were: Algebra I, Algebra II, and Geometry. If a student wished to excel, he could take Math 2-3 which combined Algebra 2 and Geometry, and then he would take Math 3-4 which included Solid Geometry and Trigonometry. Then in his senior year the student could take either Math 5 or Math 5AP. Under the new program the student starting in his freshman year takes: Math I; Math II, a trigonometry course; Math III, a geometry and trigonometry course; then Math IV, a modern math course. Students who have excelled in their previous years of math may be elected to take Math III Honors in their upper middle year and then take either Math IV Honors or Math V-AP in their senior year.

This year's students in Math IV Honors learned trigonometry, linear algebra, functions, and intuitive calculus. They had outside reading assignments and, each term, had small term papers to complete. Perhaps the most challenging of the three advanced senior courses was last year's Math V-AP. This select group of students was concerned with the higher principles of calculus and analytical geometry. This course covered the concepts of the limits and continuity, derivatives, mathematical induction, and summation notation and operations of functions.

SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

In recent years, scientific advancement has constantly penetrated the world scene. Through discoveries in space, medicine, and mechanics, men have made long strides in reaching their goals. Because of this great emphasis placed on scientific research, the science courses offered at Williston have become of great importance to the students.

Under the guidance of Mr. Seward Highley '51, the Science Department at Williston attempts to give each student his first basic steps in this vast field. The more than efficient facilities give each student a good start on all goals he starts out to reach. With the help of good instructors and an excellent supply of both mechanical and chemical instruments the Williston student may broaden his knowledge of science through chemical, physical, and biological tests.

Mr. Highley not only heads the Science Department at Williston, but also has the sole task of instructing the biology course that is offered to the seniors. Physics, also a senior course at Williston, is under the guidance of Mr. Brown '55. This course is chiefly concerned with the theoretical aspects behind the principals of motion, light, and electricity. Mr. Couderc and Mr. LaGanke are in charge of teaching the chemistry course offered. Due to a large interest in chemistry, each instructor has at least four classes. Physical Science, which is mostly a Middler course and the only underclassman science offered, is taught by Mr. Archbald, Mr. Brown, Mr. Haines and Mr. Highley. This course is built around the basic fundamentals of science. Each of these four courses is thoroughly examined and with the aid of good texts and good instructors each student is given ample opportunity to further his knowledge in any of these sciences.

LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT

The Williston Language Department has been extremely successful over the years in achieving its main purpose of teaching boys to become proficient enough in a particular language to be able to study the literature of that country and converse with its people. At Williston, courses are offered in Spanish, German, and French, and every boy must meet the requirement of having had three years of a language before he is able to graduate.

Most students begin taking a foreign language in the ninth grade. Some boys who already have a background in a language need not start at the beginning, but have the opportunity to begin on a higher level, thus enabling them to acquire an extremely rich knowledge of one particular foreign language by graduation.

The first year language students continue to study with an audio-lingual basis; that is, they make frequent use of oral tape recordings and the Putnam Language Center.

The German Department was headed this year once again by Mr. Frank Putnam, who is also the Language Department head. Under him and giving valuable aid was a new master, Mr. Keeler.

In the Spanish Department Mr. David Thomas served as the head assisted by Mr. Eustis and Mr. Goddard, two very fine masters.

Mr. Joseph Piazza, the chairman of the French Department, was aided by Mr. Donais, Mr. Wilson, and Mr. Campagna. Mr. Knight also helped Mr. Piazza in many valuable ways and next year will become the head of the Department.

BIBLE DEPARTMENT

Williston considers a study of the Bible as an important facet for the education of all new Juniors and Lower Middlers. As in the past three years, all Bible sections were ably taught by Reverend Roger A. Barnett. He has been pastor of three churches, chaplain of the Boston Area Music Institute, an instructor and counsellor at various church-related summer youth camps, and a member of the Citizen's Advisory Committee for Urban Renewal in Lynn, Mass. Mr. Barnett taught the Old Testament in the first half of the year and the New Testament in the second half. Most students found this course much easier with the use of a special workbook which Mr. Barnett wrote himself. Mr. Barnett vitalized the Bible course this year by eluding to and drawing comparisons with several contemporary religious figures and current religious occurrences.

In his role as Chaplain, Mr. Barnett had the responsibility of choosing the theme for each weekly chapel service and then assigning various sermons to Seniors on the Student Council, "Y" Cabinet, or Honor Committee. The Sunday services continued to be conducted by Mr. Barnett who gave the sermons on many occasions. Mr. Barnett was also the faculty advisor to the "Y" Cabinet, which continued to support our Greek foster child, and the Debating Club which debated in many school tournaments. Reverend Barnett's newest activity was his position as head of the new Sex Education Seminar, which was offered in the Winter and Spring terms. This course was given in biweekly lectures by visiting speakers and faculty members.

ARTS AND HUMANITIES DEPARTMENT

For the 1967-1968 year, Mr. Richard Gregory again offered a Four Part Harmony course to those students interested in a theoretical approach to music. A number of boys studied such topics as instrumentation and the construction of harmonic patterns, hoping eventually to become writers or composers, or simply wishing to understand better the music they play. This Music II course was the only one of its kind offered again this year, but interest and enrollment has increased steadily.

Also on the music staff were Mrs. Hepworth, who gave lessons in piano, and Mr. James Hurley, who taught classical guitar. Students also contributed to Williston's music by playing their own instruments for the Glee Club and dances with girls' schools.

In its third year at Williston, meeting once a week with Northampton School for Girls, the Humanities Course offered lectures on the fine arts in a successful attempt to broaden the students' cultural experience. Under the able direction of Mr. Gregory, who lectured many times himself, the weekly meetings presented the relationship between the arts in respects to similarities of style and form. This year panel discussions were introduced to the course and a greater number of Williston faculty members lectured, making Humanities more interesting and bringing continuity and clarity to the program. Also, for the first time we were privileged to have Prof. Patrick Kilburn from Union College as Professor-in-Residence and lecturer. Others presenting interesting lectures were Dr. Frederick Robinson, Director of the Springfield Museum of Art; Mrs. Dorothy Randall, Smith College; Prof. Jacques Guichernaud, Yale University; and the Williston faculty members, Mr. Moser, Mr. Shaler, Mr. Hency, Mr. Couderc, Mr. Baker, Mr. Randall, Mr. Teller, Mr. DiCorcia and Mr. Hepworth. By covering such subjects as architecture, painting, language, drama and music, the Humanities Program succeeded in interesting and educating the Seniors in the arts, thereby rounding the Williston educational experience.

MANUAL ARTS

(Subsidiary of Art and Humanities Department)

The Manual Arts classes are directed and run solely by Mr. Peter Richmond. This year the Manual Arts classes were held below the dining hall in the former Conant Room. The move from the lower level of the Science Building gave the students much more room and light than they had in the old location. The Manual Arts workshop has excellent equipment which Mr. Richmond teaches each student to use. Although the course meets only once a week, students were encouraged to come in during their free periods and work on their projects.

Mr. Richmond taught his students the rudiments of shop work, and he allowed each student to choose his own project. All projects were started on the drawing board, and then the student followed the design in completing his project.

Mr. Richmond was also very active in the Sailing Club and helped supervise the maintenance of the six Gannet sailboats that the school owns. He has also been an adviser and coach of the Sailing team for the past several years. Mr. Richmond has also constructed some of the scenery used in the Drama Club's productions.

NEW DYNAMIC ART CLASSES

(Subsidiary of Art and Humanities Department)

Mr. Moser at work.

In his first year of teaching at Williston, Mr. Moser has not only extended his immense talents to his students in his three art courses, but he also has aided the school when art work was needed.

Mr. Moser's three art courses were divided into Mechanical Drawing, Studio Art, and Art History. In Mechanical Drawing there were two different classes for those students who had taken a mechanical drawing course before and for those who had not yet taken it. The first year students learned the basics of architectural design while the more experienced students started off the year by designing and rendering a house of the future. Throughout the remainder of the year both classes were given assignments which broadened their concepts of design. Studio Art was another of Mr. Moser's courses which was for the first time counted as a full credit course. The students were given assignments in pen and ink, water color, pencil, and oils, as well as sculpturing. At the end of each term Mr. Moser met individually with the students and analyzed and criticized their work done in the term. The Art History course is similar to the Studio Art and Mechanical Drawing classes in that it is also for full credit. This class had nightly reading assignments in which they discussed each lesson the following day in a seminar style accompanied by slides and films. These three courses received a great response as shown by the number of students who participated.

Mr. Moser not only instructed his students inside and outside of class, but he also gave advice to boys taking part in the Independent Study Program. Mr. Moser proved to be an asset to the school not only as a teacher but also as a lecturer at the Senior Humanities class and in doing much of the art work needed in the Drama Club's productions.

SENIORS

The Senior year means a lot of things to a lot of people. The last year of college boards, the final year at Williston, Senior pranks, and lastly, waiting by the mail box and hoping for the right letter — all are major parts of the Senior year. To some, the Senior year means hard work, the final effort that might mean acceptance to a certain college. To others, it's the last year to participate in sports for the school, the last football game, the last wrestling match, the last lax game. The Senior year may be said to be the one of super effort, because it is the last year. No longer are they able to say "wait till next year."

As the Seniors graduate this year, they are going to leave behind traditions and signs of progress. The new constitution which the Student Council put into effect this year, new rules and revisions of the old ones, and records set by the Senior athletes, all are signs of the progress the 1968 class has made this year.

As the year comes to an end, the Seniors will look back on their career at Williston. They will remember the fun and laughter, the heartbreak of a failure or a loss, the teachers and how they weren't so bad after all, the picturesque buildings, Mem and Ford Hall, Spence, the food and Alfonse, and as they turn to face their new futures, the memory of Williston will linger in their minds.

A LETTER FROM LARRY

The 1967-1968 year started off in September with the normal amount of optimism and ambition on the part of the faculty and the students. As the year progressed one particular aspect of the Williston atmosphere became prominent. That particular element was a new attitude and outlook towards what many thought to be a stale school and, on a larger scale, what all knew to be a tense and confused world. What typified this new outlook and attitude was the ability—newly acquired in most cases—to question and criticize existing institutions. This freshly developed ability of inquiry was not just a result of our Williston atmosphere, however. National and international situations such as Vietnam, civil rights riots in our cities, and the draft law, for example, left the American people and, more specifically, the Williston student with a great many pressing and important questions for which he was hoping to find answers.

At Williston this year, though, we learned some important things about these questions. If we had any kind of perspective about education in the rest of our country and in the rest of the world, we learned that, despite our occasional cynicism about Williston, we were lucky to be here. This year we learned how to slash through much of the day-to-day trivia which will always face us to get to the real core of those important issues, activities, and ideas which surround us. Probably most of all, however, we developed the ability to see and know our inherent potential, which Williston is helping us to develop. I only hope that in years to come when, hopefully, we have developed some of this potential in ourselves, we will be able to look back to Williston and give the school some thanks for helping us to be better people.

UNDERCLASSMEN

Although it is the Seniors who attract the majority of the attention at Williston, it is the underclassmen who are a great part of the tradition that has never ceased to contribute greatly to the atmosphere and meaning of Williston life. The Juniors, Lower Middlers, and Middlers are the forces behind the lively Main Street campus, and it is the three lower classes that can be seen filing in and out of study hall or a Saturday evening movie. The Upper Middler class plays a major role in Williston's great spiritual success in the student body through the Upper Middler Advertising Corporation's efforts in forming rallies and providing cheerleaders at the school's athletic events.

But more important is the fact that the underclassman will be tomorrow's leader at Williston. Many underclassmen partake in the stiff competition on the minor teams, battling for the Varsity positions in the future. The Upper Middlers are carefully observed to see who will qualify for captains the following year. It is the underclassman who works his way up the ladder at Williston, forming his own mind and body so that he may lead the school forward in his Senior year. He is the force that keeps Williston moving in the traditional spirit that has propelled the school for 127 years.

CLUBS

Perhaps the greatest satisfaction possible out of life is the production and development of a project from its origin to a finished product. This is success. Not only will this type of satisfaction progress one's project, but the mind will certainly proceed forward towards its full potential.

Complete personal fulfillment in Williston cannot be reached on the athletic fields and in the classrooms alone, but only with the help of many clubs and societies that flourish throughout the school year.

While satisfying themselves, the boys also bring pleasure to many others. The production of a play or opera, the publishing of the yearbook, the issuing of the newspaper, the presentation of a concert, or any other extra-curricular activity gives the boys a never-to-be-forgotten experience and entertains those who surround them.

From these clubs and societies, boys are taught that sense of responsibility and value so vital to a complete education.

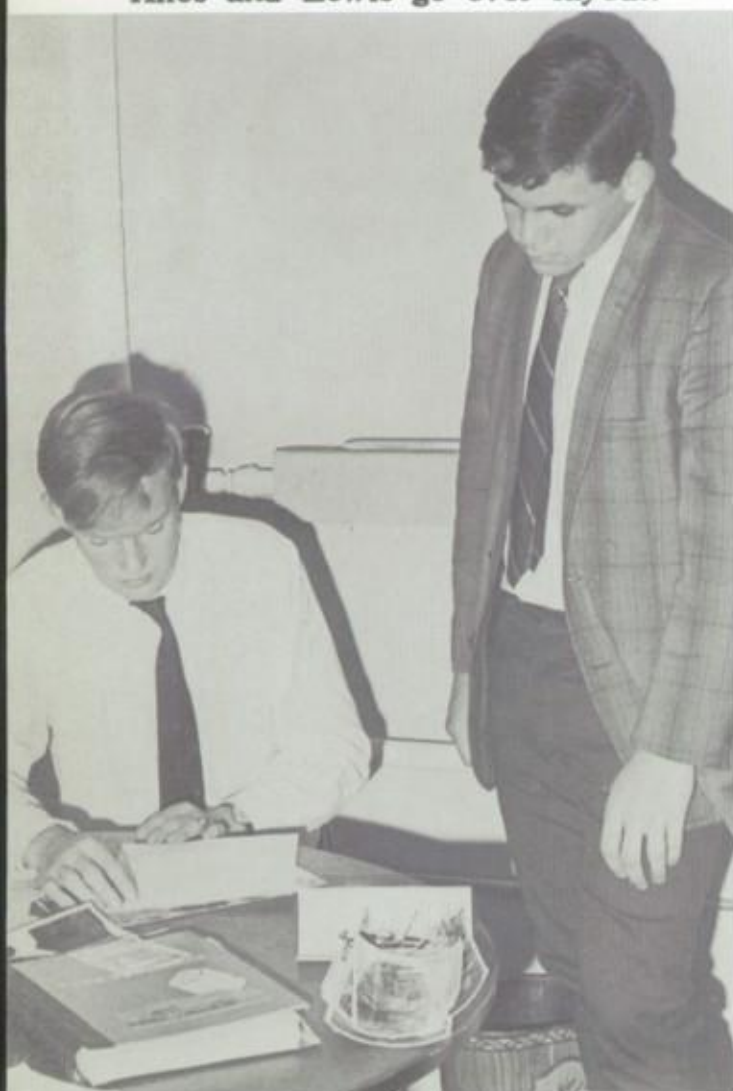

FIRST ROW: Fifield, C. Johnson, Ailes, McGrath, Lacy, Quisenberry. SECOND ROW: Mr. Baker, Faiella, Kawie, Ruder, R. Lewis, Wainwright.

LOG STRIVES TO BE DIFFERENT

Ailes and Lewis go over layout.

The faculty, sports, clubs, student productions, seniors, underclassmen, and dormitory life: these make up the majority of Williston life, and it is in the Log that the year at Williston is captured and remembered.

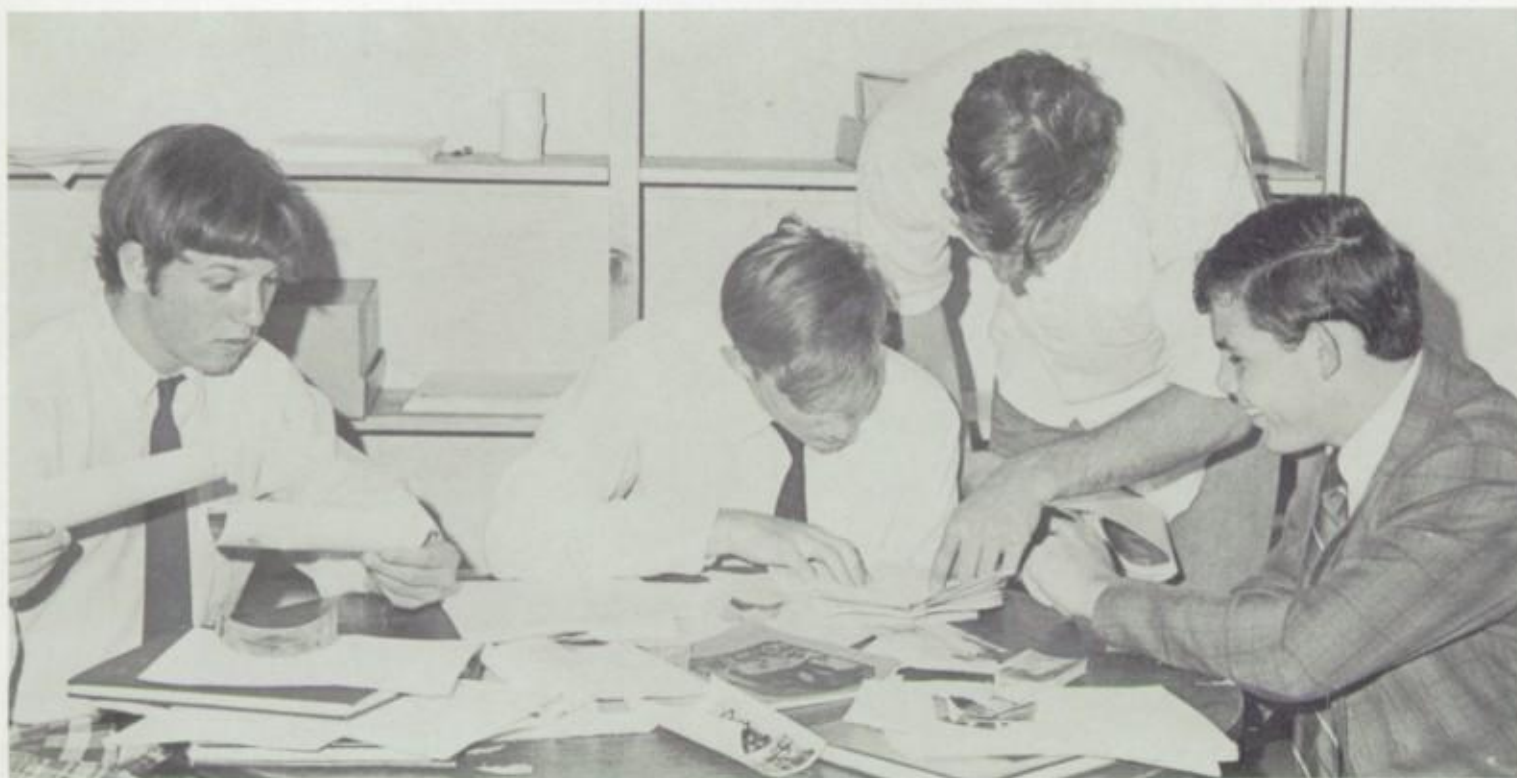

The tense moment in the football game, the agony of waiting-on, the satisfaction of the curtain-call of the Drama Club's play, the delight of victory — the Log places all these memories together to be remembered always.

Early in September, the Log staff, under the able assistance of Mr. Ellis B. Baker '51, begins the production of the school's yearbook. From the first day of school, its staff eagerly begins to gather material — candid photographs of school life, club pictures, and sports pictures. Articles are written by the large Log staff and many nights the lights in the Log offices burned brightly into the early hours of the morning.

Under 1968's Editor-in-Chief, Dick Ailes, the staff considered a theme that would successfully present a well-organized representation of the 1968 year. Progress was the choice. Whether a boy spends one, two, three, or more years at Williston, his mind and body are constantly progressing towards their full maturity and productivity.

The LOG is a great responsibility for all involved, and the yearbook is the memory of the past year — the social life is recalled by the Log, and one's friends are brought to memory through the Log.

As the year progressed, the staff worked fervently to complete the yearbook. A year's work on the Log proves to be an experience that will benefit a boy tremendously, and with this experience and hard work, the entire school is treated to an illustrative, informative, and entertaining yearbook.

Log staff at work.

CREATIVE CHANGES IMPROVE WILLISTONIAN

Bruce Marshall and Reeve Chudd go over paper.

The major responsibility of a school newspaper is to materialize the underlying flow of student doctrines. Through the competent leadership of Bruce Marshall, the Willistonian finally became sensitively tuned to these responsibilities; the nature of articles were no longer mirrors of campus news, but stimulators in the flux of student life.

Under the direction of Richard Rosenblatt, the news page was an interesting and influential segment of the Willistonian. Richard successfully overcame the pitfalls of monotonous style which were the traps of many former News Editors. Peter Homans, the Editorial Editor, measured success by degrees of response to his diverse critiques. This year, reactions to the editorial page were the most intense ever received by the Willistonian. Particularly concerned with tedious reading which encumbers the majority of school publications, Features Editor Mark Rowley took great strides in introducing creative changes in both articles and layout of his page. Dan Carpenter displayed remarkable ingenuity of foresight in team sports and tones of seasonal developments. No longer satisfied with the dry exhibitionism accompanied with sports pages, Dan managed to inject a high degree of action and advice in his pages.

A large amount of concentration involved in judging a publication falls into the category of photography. Unfortunately, the Willistonian is losing its graduating photography editors, Paul Wainwright and Fred Ruder, who established an unsurmountable record of aesthetic quality in their pictures.

Once solidifying these essential developments, Bruce Marshall, and his assistant, Reeve Chudd, carefully regulated the selection of secondary staff members — Bruce took great pains in modulating diversity and creativity in their writing, while Reeve pushed mature levels of style.

This year the majority of Willistonian editors were upper middle-class who will return next year with higher values of interest and ideas. With this in mind, the medalist distinction will hopefully be maintained.

THE COUNCIL INITIATES STUDENT CONSTITUTION

The Student Council has long been encumbered by a stifling indifference among its members. The council used to be no more profound than a selected group of students charged with the responsibility of maintaining a degree of discipline in dormitories. This lack of concern reduced former councils to mere rubber stamps of faculty whims; indeed, the councils proudly bore titles of a representative framework as they enforced the dirtier aspects of discipline. Yet through the vitality of President Larry Anderson, the student congress of this year shunned its criticized shackles as a figurehead to mark a birth to solidify student respect.

Owing to the patient endeavors of this year's student administration, the council was brought to a refined status, and is now the intervening force in faculty-student tensions as most councilors will attest and point out that never-before-experienced pain of their positions. Most important, however, Larry Anderson has sparked a reaction fusing the councilors with the individual students. The councilor is no longer one step superior to his peers, but on the contrary, integrated with his councilors and with their problems. The student congress went beyond the social environment of the Williston campus and into the academic system, influencing changes which would ease the burden of studies. The result was a reconstitution of the daily schedule and testing system. Meetings of the council have now become pushed to an intense search of the student problems and have for the first time been opened to the student.

The prevailing highpoint of the past year was the drafting of a student constitution. The constitution materializes the standpoint of the student and his relationship to the faculty and the administration of Williston. For the first time, students will have a material vantage point from which to formulate their goals.

"Y" CABINET GIVES AID

The 1967-1968 edition of the "Y" Cabinet at Williston was extremely successful and, although no new endeavors were initiated, the normal procedures were carried out with greater proficiency than in recent years. The main purpose of the "Y" Cabinet is to provide aid for different organizations, underdeveloped countries, and the three major religious faiths.

This committee was in charge of allocating the Sunday chapel offering to respective groups, and what seems to be an easy and non-time consuming job was handled with the greatest of efficiency. Another responsibility was the tidying up of the campus in general. Misplaced books and magazines were all placed in special places, and boys were then notified. Also, collections of magazines were taken throughout the year and sent to various organizations, such as the Peace Corps, local hospitals, and rest homes.

Each year the "Y" Cabinet's main responsibility is the sponsorship of a foster child. For the second year Williston's "Y" Cabinet sponsored Constantine Theofilopolis, a Greek child. With funds made available through raffles, sales, and general donations, the "Y" Cabinet made books, food, and clothes available to this Greek child, things which his widowed mother could not afford. Along with these items each member wrote a personal letter to him, letters which were returned in Greek with the greatest appreciation by Constantine.

Again as in the previous year the "Y" Cabinet sent funds to help build a school in an underdeveloped section of Africa. Under the faculty guidance of Reverend Roger A. Barnett and the leadership of James Cain, President; Michael Timm, Vice President; Thomas Cross, Secretary; and Daniel Carpenter, Jr., Treasurer, the "Y" Cabinet did an excellent job this past year.

HONOR COMMITTEE PLAYS IMPORTANT PART

In any school the role of the Honor Committee is an important one. In previous years the role of the Williston Honor Committee has been one of inferior importance, but this year, in the light of so many changes in the rules, the Honor Committee was brought to the front under the able leadership of Michael Timm and was able to uphold its position in school affairs.

The committee is appointed annually by the faculty and previous members based on recommendations, academic success, and most important, individual character. This year's committee consisted of eight seniors and seven upper middle schoolers who upheld and clarified the school rules and imposed punishment for those who broke these rules. It selected the appropriate degrees of punishment for cheating, stealing, lying, plagiarizing, and other infractions. One of the most important characteristics of a man is his honesty. If a student was found to have a corrupt sense of honesty, then he was given the guidance of a committee member who would try to put honesty in its proper perspective. Thus by controlling the idea of honesty in family life or patching the seams of a broken sense of honesty, the Honor Committee molded the student so that honesty became an inherent characteristic.

In a world where judicial bodies are gaining more importance every year in the light of the problems which are spreading across this country, even to its schools, the Honor Committee at Williston Academy did a fine and commendable job.

GLEE CLUB TRAVELS TO EUROPE

The Glee Club, under the leadership of Mr. Teller and President Hook Wheeler '68, met with great success this year. The Glee Club gave many concerts at, as well as away from, Williston. Several of these were joint concerts with local girls' schools such as MacDuffie, Northampton School for Girls, and the House in the Pines School. Preparation for these concerts as well as for the Sunday chapel services were extensive and required the members of the Glee Club to practice every Tuesday and Friday night accompanied by Mr. Randall on the piano.

This year the Glee Club parted from tradition and entertained the school with a Sunday chapel service of song rather than sermon. Aided in this venture by the Mary Burnham School for Girls, the Glee Club sang the Gloria Mass by Antonio Vivaldi. The outstanding performance refreshed the school and proved to be one of the high points of the Glee Club's year.

Another highlight of the year was the Glee Club's European trip. The members of the Glee Club who went on this trip were for a while almost a separate entity within the Glee Club because of extra separate practices conducted to prepare them for the trip. The group enjoyed great success on their European sojourn.

Another group singing in addition to the Glee Club was the Caterwaulers. This group of fourteen boys led by Mr. Gregory and President Keith Handyside '69, sang a variety of arrangements ranging from barber shop to jazz. They presented many concerts on their own.

This year's Glee Club met with great success. Indeed, the whole Williston community was indebted to them for their excellent concerts as well as for their fine leadership in Chapel this year.

DRAMATIC CLUB DISPLAYS VARIETY

This year, the Williston Academy Dramatic Club presented three productions during the school year; one of them was a studio theater production by Milton Moore '68 that was his independent study project. The writing, production, and presentation of "Shadows" was completely done by students.

The Fall term production was "Ring Round the Moon," by Jean Anouilh. This fine comedy drama was produced and directed by Mr. Richard Gregory. Playing leading rolls were Bion Howard '69 in the dual role of Hugo and Frederic, and Ruxton Dellecese '68. Other fine performances were turned in by Robert Cody '70, George Snook '68, and John Carroll '68, ably assisted by girls from the Northampton School for Girls. The play was very well received by all those who attended it.

A Winter term production was eliminated because of the interest in the student-run production of "Shadows."

In the Spring term, the Dramatic club produced the musical comedy, "The Boy Friend," a spoof by Sandy Wilson of the musicals of the 1920's. The play was produced and directed under the management of Mr. Ellis B. Baker '51. The principal roles were well filled by Thomas Hoyle '68, the English exchange student, as Tony, and Ruxton Dellecese as Percival Brown. Support was added by Lawrence Anderson '68, Worth Durgin '68, Emile George '68, and Thomas Griggs '68. Girls from Easthampton played the distaff side.

This was a very fine year for the Dramatic club, with John Carroll as its President and its new faculty leadership. The faculty involved in the productions were Mr. Gregory, Mr. Baker, and Mr. Barry Moser. They were assisted by Mr. Joseph DiCorcia, Mr. Stephen Randall, and Mrs. John Gilbert. Through the hard work of the faculty, and especially the many students who contributed numerous long hours, both on the stage and behind the scenes, the Dramatic Club proved to be a source of great entertainment and experience for the entire school.

Studio Theater

The Studio Theater gives students an opportunity to work in a dramatic production in every facet of the theater. Studio Theater productions are completely student produced and directed. Faculty supervision is minimal as the students approach the faculty adviser only when they have specific problems. The Studio Theater has traditionally presented contemporary plays, experimenting in the new techniques of the theater. This year the Studio Theater presented the play "Shadows". "Shadows" was written by Milton Moore '68 and deals with the lack of communication of stereotype people. It was presented in the Winter term and was well received by the students. "Shadows" is a good example of the importance and the success of the Studio Theater.

Credit should be given to Milton Moore, Rux Dellecese '68, John Carroll '68, Stephen Wheeler '68, George Snook '68, and Mrs. Lorraine Teller and many others for making the Studio Theater a success.

SOCIAL COMMITTEE HAS GOOD START

The Social Committee was initiated this year in order to arrange and organize dances with girls' schools. Under the guidance of Mr. Campagna, the Social Committee was able to arrange more dances this year than in any previous one. Many dances were held with the MacDuffie School for Girls, Emma Willard, Northampton School, Mary Burnham School, and others. With the help of Dick Ailes '68, Hook Wheeler '68, and Bill Morrison '69, dances were smooth and successful.

This year, for the first time, the school held mixers instead of assigning dates for many of the dances. The music was usually supplied by John Kawie '68, Chris Palmieri '68, Peter Homans '68, Chris Hamel '68, and Clark Taylor '69.

The two highlights of the year were the Winter Carnival dance and the Spring Dance. The Leaves of Grass, a group from Amherst, played at the Winter Carnival dance and were greatly enjoyed. At the dance, Peter Downs' date was selected as the Winter Carnival Queen. The Winter Carnival was also initiated this year, and it will take the place of free days. The Spring Dance is also new this year and takes the place of the Spring Prom. Girls were brought from the Emma Willard School, the MacDuffie School, and the House in the Pines School. This was perhaps the most successful dance of the year.

Two elements made this a successful year for dances. The beautiful young ladies from the visiting girls' schools and the arduous efforts of Mr. Campagna.

LITERARY SOCIETY HAS ACTIVE YEAR

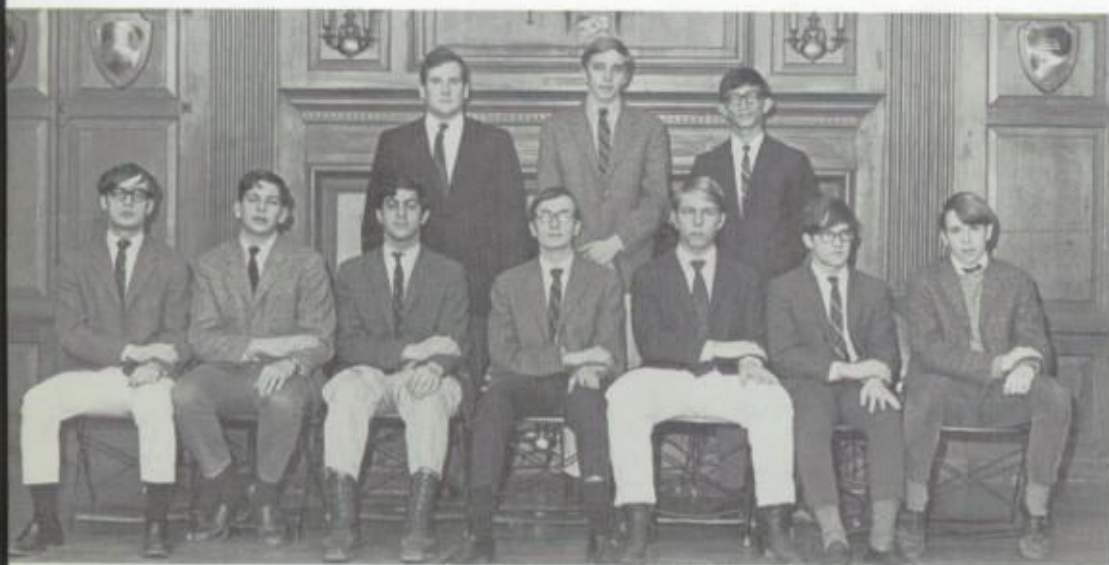

To those interested in creative writing, Williston offers the Literary Society and its yearly publication, The Scribe. With Mr. Bower as their faculty advisor, Milton Moore, President of the Literary Society and Editor-in-Chief of the Scribe; Craig Preston, Prose Editor; Chris Hamel, Poetry Editor; Andy Wernick, Art Editor; and Dick Arnold, Photography Editor, all contributed many hours of hard work to publish a successful edition of The Scribe.

At the weekly meetings the members discussed the works of contemporary writers and reviewed material submitted for The Scribe. Much of the poetry and prose discussed this year was written by underclassmen.

In order to stimulate student interest in the creative arts, the annual Charles E. Rouse Creativity Contest was held again by the Literary Society. A ten dollar prize was awarded in each of the four categories: poetry, prose, photography, and art. This year the Literary Society was fortunate enough to have Professor-in-residence Patrick Kilburn as the judge of the prose and poetry.

A new interprep-school publication, Noonmark, appeared on the literary scene for 1967-1968. Williston's Literary Society was on the editorial board of Noonmark and organized Williston's contributions to this anthology of prep-school literature. Along with poetry, prose, and art, there were many essays and editorials in this new magazine, which is published several times a year by Phillips Exeter with a circulation of about 10,000.

With these numerous activities, the Society had a very busy and enjoyable year, and surely proved itself to be one of the most active organizations on the campus.

VIETNAM TOPIC FOR DEBATING CLUB

One of the most popular clubs at Williston this year was the Debating Club which was under the guidance of Reverend Barnett. The officers of the club were Bill Maid, President; Bob Ingersoll, Vice President; and Dennis McCarthy, Secretary.

Early in the Winter term the Debate Club traveled to Suffield Academy to debate. The topic was: "Resolved: Congress should establish uniform regulations to control crime investigation procedures." The members representing Williston for the affirmative side were Bill Maid and Mark Munsey, while the negative side was represented by Bob Ingersoll and Dennis McCarthy. Those who attended thought that the debate was a tremendous success.

The Debate Club's main function was to instruct the younger and less experienced debaters in the proper techniques and tricks of debating. The club hoped to have in the latter part of the Winter term a debate on abortion for the novice debaters. Early in the Fall term the club presented for the school a debate on whether the United States should remain in Vietnam. The debate was a success and Mr. Barnett arranged to hold another such debate in the Spring term during a Saturday morning assembly.

The club hoped to have another debate with Suffield and a debate against Wilbraham early in the Spring term. Towards the end of the year Reverend Barnett planned to have a series of debates among the members of the club in order to find the top team in the school.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS CLUB EXPANDS

With the addition of many foreign students, the Williston Foreign Affairs Club was able to expand to one of the largest ever this year. The club was organized in an attempt to acquaint the students not only with the world situation, but also with the habits and the customs of other lands.

Under the direction of faculty advisor Mr. Lawton, the club met weekly, and Harold Rabinovitz '68, President of the club, directed the meetings. The meetings varied from group discussions among all the students to lectures by a single student with a question and answer period afterwards.

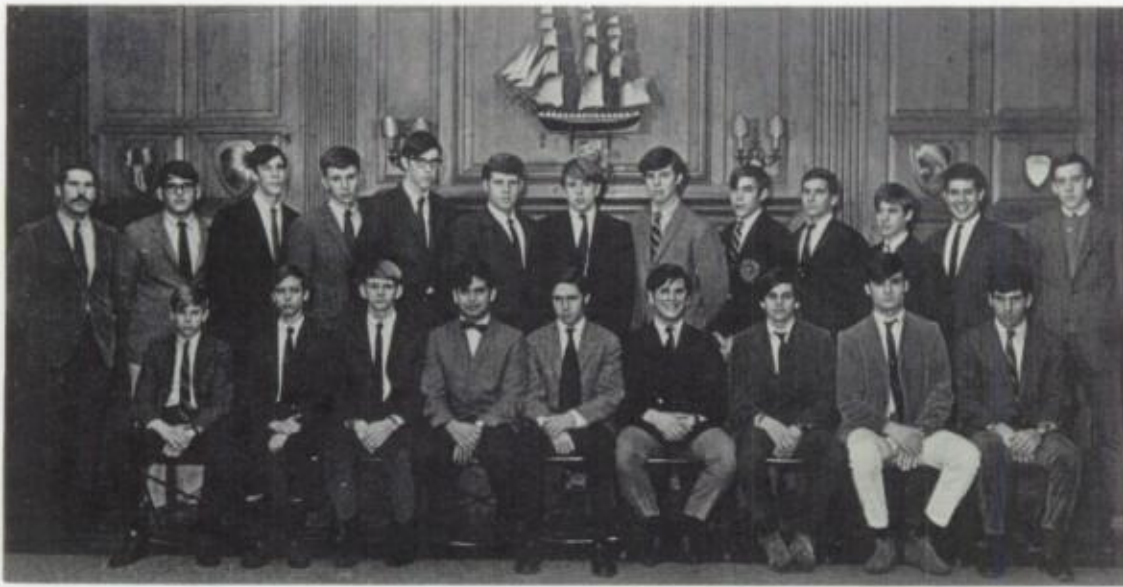

Carlos Urrutia '68 gave a very informative talk on Latin America, while Mr. Couderc acquainted the students better with the government of France.

Included in the club were two boys from Liberia, Bert Cooper and Ron Padmore, who gave the club an interesting insight into Twentieth century life in Africa. German exchange student, Lutz Wegner, spoke on present-day Germany, and two students from Thailand introduced many students to the problems of Southeast Asia.

There were usually over thirty boys at the meetings of the club, and the discussions among themselves greatly increased their knowledge with the problems and the people of the world, and in doing so, continued the club's reputation of being one of the most beneficial in the school.

SPANISH CLUB HAS GOOD START

The Williston Spanish Club was organized in an attempt to offer the students an opportunity to expand the realms of their studies in Spanish beyond the classroom and to present the students with the influence that Spanish culture plays in the United States.

The club, under the direction of Mr. Eustis as faculty advisor, and with Carlos Urrutia '68 as its President, took advantage of every opportunity to further their studies in Spanish. The club was able to travel to Amherst to see two films by one of the great Spanish producers, Bunuel, and all who attended were very appreciative of the opportunity. The club saw "Viridiana" and also "Los Olvidados."

On another occasion, the club had the chance to go to Hartford to see the film "To Die In Madrid." The film was an excellent English-spoken documentary about the Spanish Civil War. The film was a great aid to the classroom study of the war, for many club members had been studying the Civil War.

The club had one of its largest turnouts ever in the Fall, that being between thirty and forty students, and the members returning next year are looking forward to a very successful year in 1968-69.

FRENCH CLUB LEARNS CUSTOMS

Under the guidance of Messrs. Dicorcia and Goddard and through the leadership of Christopher Amy '68, the French Club became once again an active organization on the Williston campus. This club was set up as an organization for boys having an interest and a certain degree of fluency in French. At their weekly meetings, they read poetry and drama, sang French songs, tasted French cheeses and pastries, and had lectures on French art and politics. The more notable lectures were by Mr. Knight on Romanesque and Gothic architecture, and M. Couderc on France's position in the Common Market. Several times throughout the year the French Club offered trips to nearby college campuses to see films and plays offered by French acting companies. Among these were Moliere's Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme, Beckett's En Attendant Godot, and a film comedy, Peau de Banane.

For an organization that has been inactive for several years, the French Club received an amazingly large turnout which enabled the meetings to be carried out with reasonable ease in French. The main aims of the French Club were not only to improve the students' fluency in the language, but also to broaden their knowledge of French customs, culture, and views. In attaining this end, the advisors and officers of the club followed through with the many suggestions offered by the members.

SENIOR SCHOLASTIC COMMITTEE

The Senior Scholastic Committee consists of seventeen Seniors, who are chosen by the Headmaster on the basis of their academic achievements of the previous year.

Headed by Chairman Edwin Knights and Secretary Dudley Lacy, the Committee tutored boys who were failing or in danger of failing. Students were assisted according to their individual needs.

The purpose of the Committee is to have a group of top students on hand to give students in trouble a little bit more personal attention than a master could. This added individual attention is often enough to give a boy a chance to catch up with his classes on a point he might have missed. This student-to-student help often has a great effect on a boy who is unclear in some area, for often a boy has an easier way of explaining something.

In an effort to inform parents of their son's scholastic attempts at recuperation, a record is kept of the time spent with each tutored student. The parents are notified, by comments slips sent home with the month grades, of the progress their son has made.

GOLD KEY

The Gold Key serves the important task of showing applicants around the Williston campus. Now in its fourth year, the Gold Key's job is more demanding as the number of applicants increases each year. The committee is headed by Mr. St. George, the Director of Admission, and Ted Babcock '68, is the student-head of the Gold Key.

The campus tour generally begins at the Administration Building, either before or after an interview, and proceeds to the library. The applicants are then shown the Putnam Language Center and the Science Building. They are shown Ford Hall, the dining room and kitchen, and then on to the gymnasium. From the gym, the student guide concludes the tour by way of the Chapel and the John Wright dormitory.

In the past, the Gold Key was a group of Seniors who cheered at football and basketball games, but this responsibility has been taken over by UMAC. Now the Gold Key's job is dedicated to future Williston Students. Faculty members also participate in showing applicants around the campus, most notably Headmaster Stevens, Mr. St. George, and Mr. Francis.

The Gold Key plays a very important part in the Williston life, and the students who freely give their time should be commended.

SCIENCE CLUB

The Science Club this past year, with the help of Mr. Highley, the Faculty Adviser, and Charles Johnson, the President of the club, continued to give interested students a chance to learn more about specific science fields. The officers selected topics that the students were interested in for study. With the help and support of the students, the club was able to show films from the University of Massachusetts and have presentations by those participating in the Independent Study Program on such topics as photography and the light spectrum. Various lectures were also given throughout the year. One of the most memorable was given by Dr. John Gilbert on pathology. A field trip has already been planned to go to the Amherst Planetarium along with many more lectures, movies, and experiments.

The Science Club met on a bi-monthly schedule, except when it was necessary to meet for a special lecture or movie. Attendance at each meeting was not mandatory and allowed each student to go to the meetings which interested him.

The Science Club continued to be a great source for knowledge for all those students who desired to learn more about a field which interested them. For some students the club was just an interesting extracurricular activity, while for others it became a worth-while means to learn more on their own.

PRESS CLUB

The Williston Press Club this year continued in the ever important role of reporting information concerning Williston's many athletic contests and social events to the newspapers that the school is in contact with, those being the New York Times, the Boston Herald, the Boston Globe, and the Springfield Union. Under the able assistance of Miss Dorothy Potter and Mrs. Johnson, the heads of the Public Relations Department, and Mr. Vincent LoBello, the Press Club was able to keep Williston in contact with the rest of the New England prep schools.

With Bill Borkon as its President, the club held the tremendous responsibility of writing articles for local newspapers for release almost immediately after the final moment of an athletic contest. The students themselves wrote a vast majority of the articles and also kept the local radio and television stations aware of Williston news.

In the fall, Williston was host to the New England Inter-scholastic Cross Country meet, and the Press Club must be applauded for their excellent coverage of the progress of the over two hundred boys involved.

With many lower classmen included in this year's membership, the Press Club looks forward to a strong staff next year and will surely continue to expose students to modern press coverage and offer the opportunity to learn accurate news reporting.

SATURDAY MORNING STEERING COMMITTEE

It has always been Williston's tradition to expand the student's mind beyond the realm of his studies and to acquaint him with other people, other's ideas, and a great variety of events. For this purpose, the Saturday Morning Steering Committee was formed. The Committee is headed by Worth Durgin '68 and has the able assistance of Mr. Ellis B. Baker '51, as a faculty advisor.

Under Mr. Baker's auspices, the committee, over the past school year, has arranged programs for the Saturday Morning Assembly that have ranged from foreign affairs to culture.

Perhaps the highlight of the Saturday Assemblies was the talk concerning the war in Viet Nam by Mr. Tran Van Dinh, the former ambassador from South Viet Nam to the United States. Mr. Dinh's views offered the student body an interesting insight into the problems of Southeast Asia from an angle different from that which the student had been accustomed to.

The students also had the chance to hear a controversial commentary on the conflict between Israel and Egypt by a young, Middle-eastern student from the University of Massachusetts.

Through a series of films, the students were acquainted with the advantages of automobile safety devices and home safety, and were also introduced to such summer and extracurricular programs as Outward Bound.

The Winter Carnival Weekend was appropriately started with a collection of ski films and films of the Dartmouth Winter Carnival.

The students themselves produced programs for the Assembly. The European Glee Club Group put on an excellent performance after their Spring vacation trip, while Milton Moore's independent study project, the writing and production of the play, "Shadows," proved extremely interesting.

From world affairs to the light-hearted Senior Follies, Mr. Baker and the Steering Committee provided excellent entertainment throughout the school year and exhibited fine taste in their choice of programs.

THE END!

SPORTS

Every institution of any variety must extend its scope beyond the classroom, and it has always been the policy at Williston to develop not only the minds of the students, but also the body and the spirit through the athletic program. A mind cannot develop unless the body follows along, and this is one of the many aims of the athletic department.

No matter what a boy's athletic ability may be, he will leave Williston with a high sense of spirit and a tremendous desire to excel. This spirit and desire has always proved itself to be an important part of Williston life.

Highlighting the athletic program are the excellent facilities that the school has to offer. The Master's Rink provides the students with one of the best skating programs in New England, while the swimming pool and the gymnasium offer the boys constant entertainment.

Through the athletics at Williston, the boys become acquainted with other schools, and they can therefore carry on the Williston tradition both in and out of the school.

ATHLETIC DEPARTMENT

Assuming the tremendous responsibility of arranging the athletic schedules for all the teams is Mr. Dale Lash. As the very competent Director of Athletics, Mr. Lash arranges the athletic contests, both home and away, and provides all the necessary equipment for the teams.

Through the excellent efforts of Mr. Lash, Williston is able to compete with innumerable prep schools and public schools. This year, Mr. Lash added Mt. Hermon to the hockey schedule and the always powerful Andover to the wrestling schedule for the first time.

Throughout the year, Mr. Lash also assumes the duties of caring for any minor injuries and treatments that may be necessary to keep the athletes in top form.

Athletics have always been an important part of the Williston tradition, and through the efforts of Mr. Lash, the competitive spirit at Williston will flourish for many years to come.

Dale W. Lash, B.P.E., M.A.

Director of Athletics Athletic Advisory Board

SOCCER RUNS RECORD TO 19-2-2 FOR TWO YEARS

With ten returning lettermen, some new faces, and two of the finest coaches in New England, the 1967 Varsity Soccer team posted an outstanding record of eleven wins and one loss. The team as a whole must be commended for this record. The leadership of co-captains Bill Fifield '68 and Ron Padmore '68 was an inspiration to the rest of the team.

After blasting goals at Monson, 6-0, and Hotchkiss, 4-0, the team slowed down but was undefeated with a 7-0-0 record as it approached the Suffield game. Williston looked stalwart but could not capitalize on its opponents and thus lost to Suffield, 2-1. After this game the pressure was taken off the squad members, and they reeled off extremely impressive victories over Worcester, Deerfield, Kingswood, and an upset-minded Mt. Hermon team. Williston finished second in the Western New England Soccer Association standings, improving on last year's fourth place finish.

Throughout the season the duo of Ron Padmore and Rockwell Keeney '68 brought the team up to the tempo of each game. These two have contributed a total of seven varsity seasons for Williston soccer. Their constant scoring threat kept the opponents on their heels throughout most of the season. Other offensive players who contributed immensely were Tom Wallace '68, Jim Davenport '68, Jim Clarke '68, and Duncan McMartin '69. Greg Stasz '68, Keith Handyside '69, and Ted Nellen '68. On defense, co-captain Bill Fifield played consistently well and was helped by Hook Wheeler '68, Ted Motyl '68, Bruce Marshall '68, and Doug McClellan '68. In the goal Larry Anderson '68 did an excellent job letting in only thirteen goals, one of the lowest totals in New England. The team's bench was very strong, and it definitely contributed to the team's record.

Much of the credit goes, however, to Head Coach Brown and Assistant Coach Highley. Their general knowledge and fine organization of practices and games went a long way in helping these boys stay at the top all year. The spirit of the team was extremely high throughout the season, and this can be attributed to the fact that almost everyone had played together for two years and knew each other well.

To sum up the entire 1967 season in a few words, the boys put their spirit, determination, and experience together to produce the finest record that a Williston soccer team has had in twenty-five years.

DAVE URQUHART WINS FRANK BOYDEN TROPHY

The 1967 Varsity Football team opened the season with two consecutive losses, but rebounded to win the next three straight. The momentum was not sufficient, though, for the squad then dropped the final two tilts of the season.

After two early losses to strong teams from Vermont and Hotchkiss, the team rebounded to soundly defeat Loomis by the score of 35-20. A week later, before a large Parents' Day crowd, Williston defeated Taft, 22-16. The third consecutive victory was but another week later, with Suffield falling victim to the football team, 26-20. The team then suffered a heartbreaking, close, hard-fought loss to Wilbraham by the slim margin of 8-0. In the final game of the season, Tabor avenged their last minute loss of last year by beating Williston, at Williston, 27-12.

Although they sported a losing record, the team provided many thrills for its spectators and had many highlights. Co-captains Cam Coe '68 and Dave Urquhart '68 played superior football, both offensively and defensively. Their hard-hitting play inspired the other players and sparked the spirit of the team. The backfield was one of the strongest that a Williston football team has ever had. With the varied running attack of Ted Benoit '69 and Jim Cain '68 the squad was able to employ a diversified attack. This attack was made even more possible by the excellent performance of newcomer Sam Greeley '69. Greeley must be viewed as one of the important leaders on both the attack and on defense. Doing the play-calling was veteran quarterback Peter Downs '68. Peter led the team on offense with his strategic play-calling, hard running, and efficient passing.

One of the greatest highlights of the football season was the awarding of the Frank Boyden Trophy, presented to the outstanding scholar-athlete in western New England, David Urquhart. Dave's unending contributions to the team through his leadership and his fine play certainly made him a worthy recipient of the award.

With many returning lettermen, the team, under the excellent coaching of Messrs. Francis, Carpenter, and LoBello, is looking forward to a very successful season in 1968. The three coaches have aided the team immeasurably with their advice and their many hours of coaching. Because of their efforts, Williston football is always producing fine players.

CROSS-COUNTRY PLACE FIFTH IN THE INTERSCHOLASTICS

The 1967 Cross-Country team, led by three returning lettermen, Captain Richard Halpern '68, John Olander '68, and Richard Bingham '69, finished the season with a record of 6-3. The squad soundly defeated strong teams from Hotchkiss, Loomis, Choate, and Union, while losing only to Vermont, Taft, and Mount Hermon. One of the key factors of the team's success was the running of the newcomer Chris Rinehart '68. Chris finished first in seven out of nine meets and holds the fastest time ever run by a Williston runner on the cross-country course.

After losing by one point to an unexpectedly strong team from Vermont Academy, the team rebounded to defeat in succession Hotchkiss, Choate, Loomis, and the Union College freshmen. The team was then defeated by an outstanding group of runners from Taft School. In this meet, Chris Rinehart broke the course record by six seconds. The team, after the loss to Taft, again started a winning streak by defeating teams from Suffield and Lenox.

The highlight of the season occurred on Saturday, November 4, when Williston hosted the New England Interscholastics. In this meet, Williston placed a strong fifth out of the fourteen teams in Class A. This year's competition was much tougher than in previous years. Many runners had a hard time placing closer to the top than they did last year. Despite the tough competition of the interscholastics, Chris Rinehart finished tenth. This was the best place a Williston boy has ever had in the New Englands. Runners aided by the fine coaching of Mr. Shaler and Mr. Cody were newcomers Steve Trudel '69 and Fran Killory '70. Without these two boys, Williston would not have experienced as fine a season as it did.

Special note must be given to Captain Rich Halpern. His leadership helped the squad considerably throughout the season. For Rich, this was the fourth year on the Varsity, and he has run thirty-five Varsity meets for the Williston Cross-Country team. This record of devotion and skill will not be matched for many years at Williston.

SWIMMING PLACES FOURTH AT EASTERNS

The 1968 Varsity Swimming team had an excellent record of 12-1. This record was accomplished by the excellent swimming of most members of the squad, their being in top shape, and the coaching of Mr. Babcock. The team started the season with a strong showing against the Harvard Freshmen by beating them 59-36. After coming back from winter vacation in poor shape, the team lost to the Army Plebes in a close meet, 49-46. The team then proceeded to win the rest of the meets by substantial scores. The most gratifying victory was over the Yale Freshmen. This meeting is always the highlight of our dual meet season. Williston won by the score of 54-41.

The biggest meet of the season was the Eastern Interscholastic Swimming Championships, which are annually held at the Lawrenceville School. The Williston Swimmers came in fourth out of 30 teams. This is the best competition our swimmers have ever had the opportunity to participate against. The Williston freestyle relay came in first and set a new meet record. Al Ackerman '68 came in second in the 100 yard freestyle. Tom Wallace '68 came in third in the diving while Gerry '70, his brother, came in sixth in the 100 yard backstroke.

For the conclusion of the season the Williston team competed in the New England Prep School Swimming Championships. They came in first with most of the swimmers swimming in the special strokes they competed in throughout the season. The freestyles included co-captain Al Ackerman, Terry Warner '69, Dick Winters '70, Ted Babcock '68, and John Meade '70. The backstrokers were Gerry Wallace, Hank Driver, and Peter Benson '68. Swimming the individual medley were co-captain John Gilbert '68 and Tim Swallen '68. Doing the butterfly throughout the season were John Trembley '70 and Bill Fifield '68, while the breaststrokers were Jim Sadowsky '68 and Larry Bushey '70. The divers, Tom Wallace and Jack Nicholson '70 did an excellent job in coming in one, two in the diving competition. Freestyler John Hellebush was elected the captain for the 1969 year, and the swimmers expect him to lead the team to a record the equal to this year's performance.

BUILDING YEAR FOR BASKETBALL

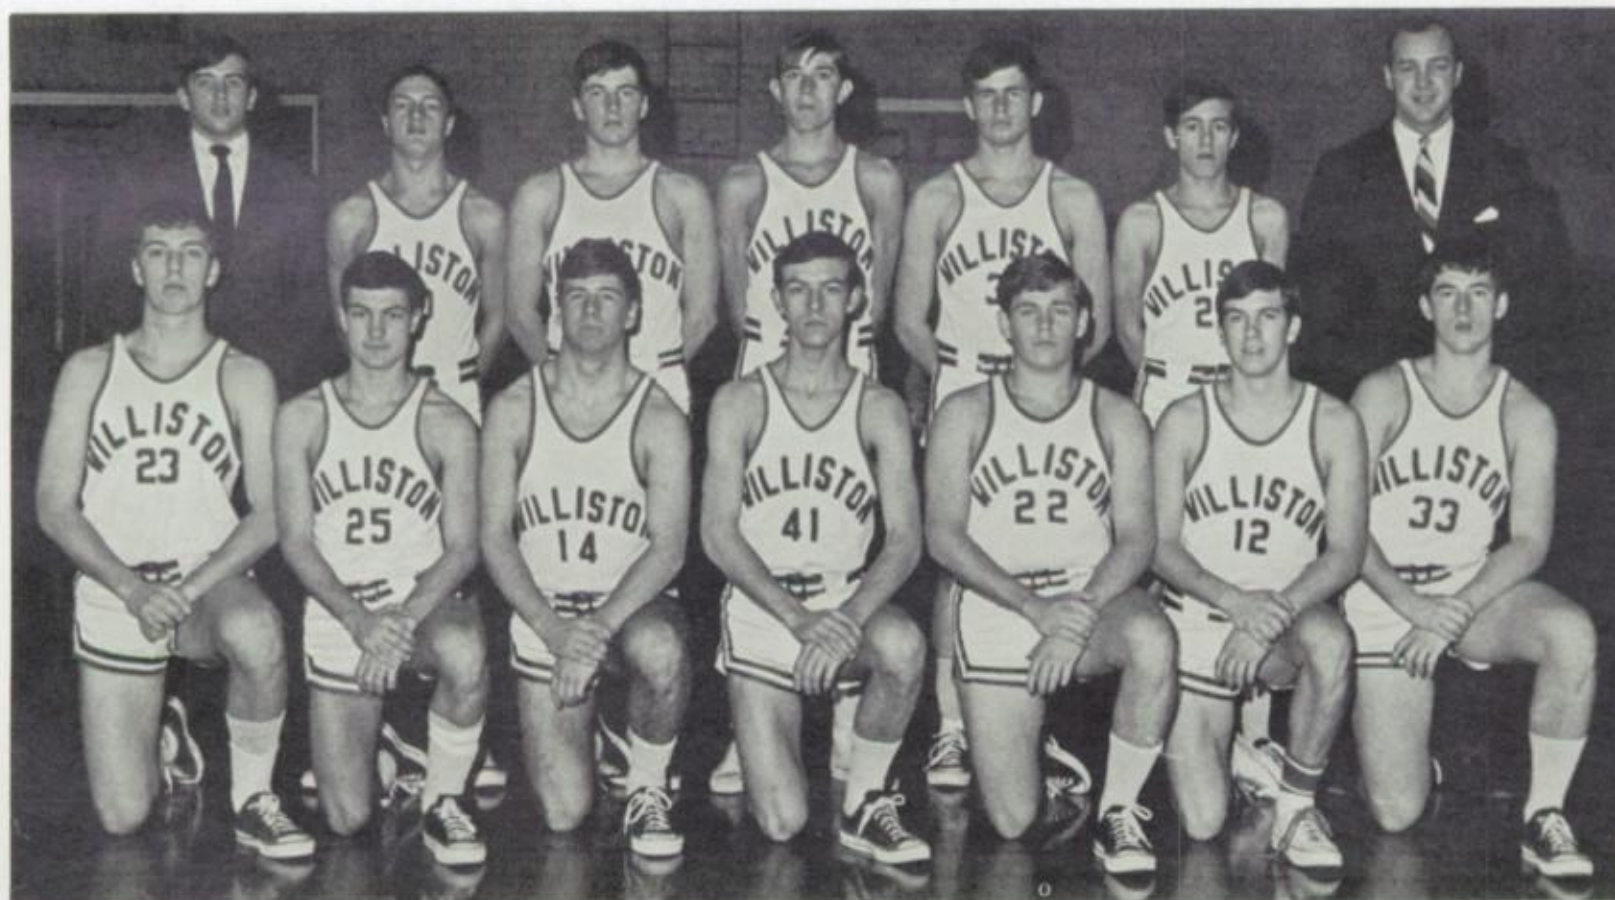

The 1967-1968 Varsity Basketball Team finished its season with a relatively poor record of five wins and twelve losses. The team started its season with eight members of last year's club and five other players who were new to the Varsity. The team was characterized by a general lack of height and, therefore, had to depend on speed and teamwork for its limited success.

Highlights of the season included a win against Westminister in the opening game, a double-overtime victory over Hopkins Grammar, a strong victory over Monson, and two strongly-contested losses to Cushing and Deerfield at the end of the season. The team did not have one single consistent scorer and rebounder until Wayne Tooker '69 developed in the second half of the season after recovering from a broken hand. Ted Motyl '68 led the squad in points-scored with a total of 178, and also held the team's high single game scoring mark with a thirty point performance against Cushing. Captain Larry Anderson '68, Peter Downs '68, Cary Jubinville '68, Mike Timm '68, Hook Wheeler '68 and Rich Halpern '68 were the other seniors who saw a great deal of action throughout the year. Underclassmen Gary Timm '70, Tom Varnum '70, Jay Leet '69, Bob Smith '69, and Paul Schumacher '69 all showed tremendous improvement during the season. Schumacher, in particular, showed great progress in his shooting and rebounding. He also won The Varsity Award for the best foul-shooting percentage, hitting 63% of his free-throws.

Coach Rick Francis had a tough job during the season choosing a starting five each game because the team members were so even in ability. By the end of the season, though, the team had developed into a relatively cohesive unit.

ALLANSON LEADS HOCKEY TO WINNING SEASON

At the beginning of the 1968 season, it was doubtful that the Varsity Hockey Team would win more than a few games. Only three lettermen returned from last year's squad. However, the 8-6-1 overall record shows the success the team achieved.

Captain Rob Allanson '68 led the scoring with 27 goals and 17 assists, and was closely followed by Arch Bryant '68 and Sam Greeley '69. Other linemen on the team who gained valuable experience for next season were Mark deShong '69, Norm MacLeod '70, and Scott Cashmore '70.

Jim Davenport '68 and Chip Keeney '68 developed into fine defensemen during the season as they eased the job for goalies Dan Carpenter '68 and Bruce Marshall '68.

The season opened with the Third Annual Williston Hockey Tournament. After a disappointing loss to Hotchkiss, the Williston puckmen decisively defeated Loomis, 4-2.

A regular season winning streak was broken by a powerful Vermont team. After a 12-0 shutout over Mt. Hermon, Williston tied Tabor, 2-2, in an exciting Winter Weekend game.

After a close 4-2 loss to Taft, one of the most powerful teams in Western New England, Williston beat both Loomis and Pomfret by the score of 3-2.

Hockey won their final game of the season in a night contest at Mount Hermon. After going ahead 3-0, Williston saw her opponents score two goals in the closing minutes. The game was an exciting finish to an exciting season.

This past year was definitely a building year for the Williston Hockey Team. Several players on the Varsity team gained valuable experience. In addition the J. V., third, and fourth teams produced quite a few good young hockey players for the future. With this combined returning nucleus, next year should be a successful one for Williston hockey.

SQUASH HAS "CURTAIN-RAISING" SEASON

This has been a most remarkable season of squash. What could have been a mediocre group of players proved to be a splendid, hard working team which was consequently rewarded with a very fine and successful season.

A record of eight victories to two defeats speaks much for the team's added depth compared with previous years. Some good, often excellent, squash was played by everyone on the team. The first three players, Tom Hoyle, Harlan Isgur '69 and Tim Morgan '71 proved to be a strong, consistent and formidable trio who were often involved in tense, gruelling match-winning games. The other members, Captain Ted McMillen, Blake Hall, Andy Gerald and Rick Lauter '69, although not as talented as the others, provided the depth which so often gave this team deserving victories over potentially stronger opposition.

The most notable victory was over the Amherst Freshmen; as a curtain-raiser to the season, this was quite an achievement, being the first time that a Williston team has ever beaten Amherst. Four fine wins were included against Choate and Deerfield who were both played twice; it was quite an accomplishment to sweep them both off their feet by the score of 6-1 on their own courts. The only setbacks were at the hands of the Trinity Freshmen, a very well-balanced and strong team, who beat Williston soundly twice.

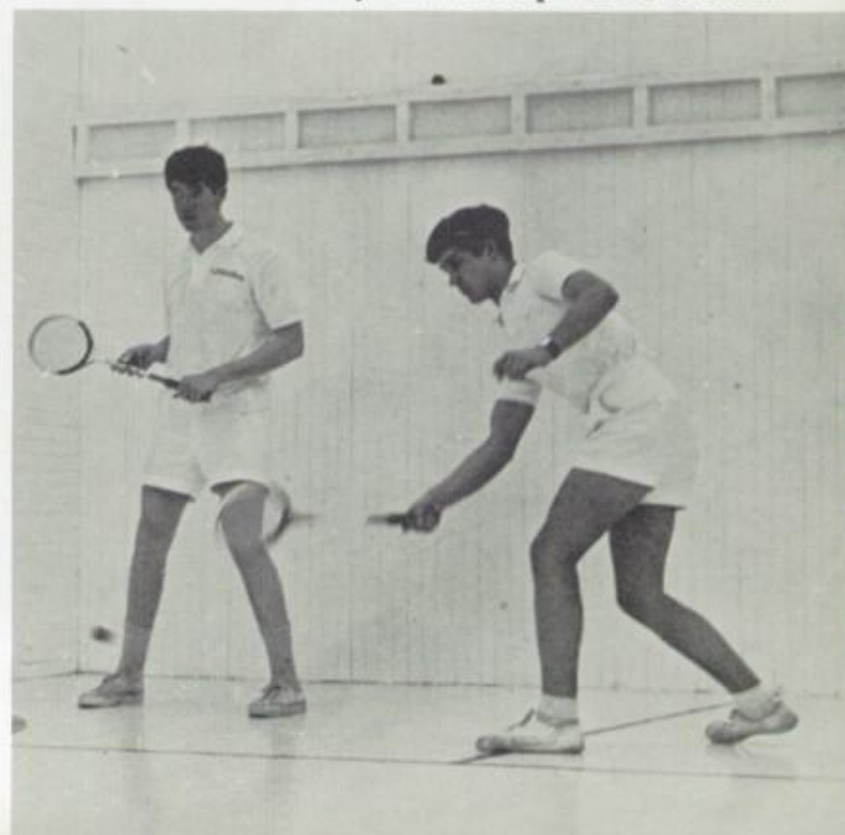

Thanks to Mr. Seybolt's invaluable coaching and experience, the team developed confidence and polish; there can be a certain amount of optimism for another successful season next year.

WRESTLING HAS BEST SEASON UNDER COACH KNAUF

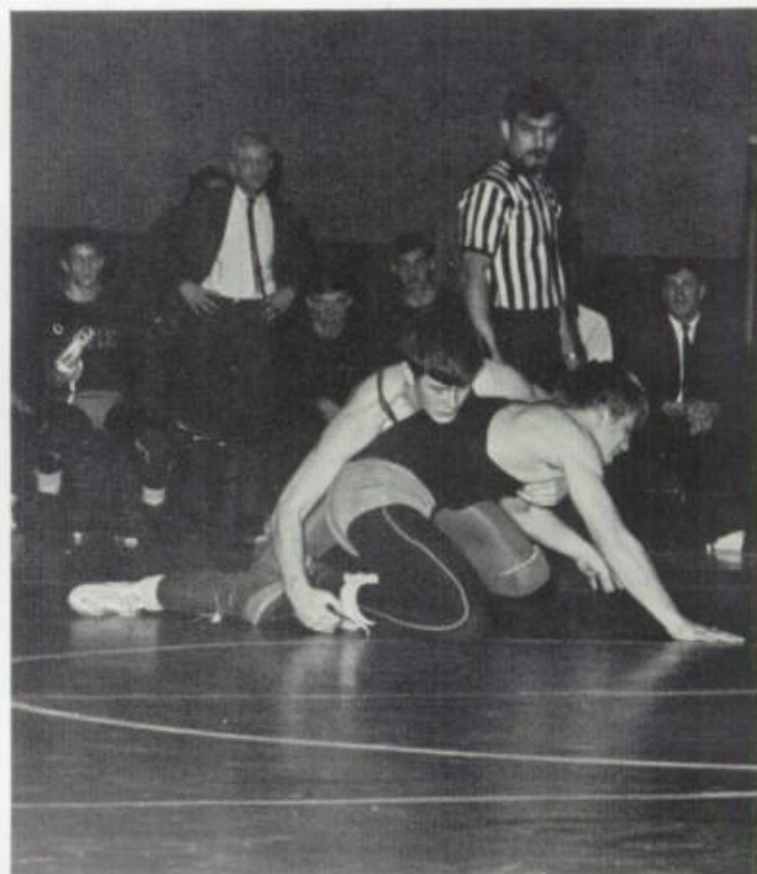

Despite the loss of six seniors from the starting team, Varsity wrestling turned their 4-6 record of 1967 into a 6-3 record in 1968. The team opened the season against the always powerful Suffield team and was defeated. They bounced back, though, with a 32-12 victory over Choate. After losing a close match to the Western Massachusetts Champions, Springfield Technical High School, the wrestlers beat Loomis 27-14.

At midseason, the team was 2-3, after losing to undefeated Mount Hermon on February 10. The momentum then picked up and the wrestlers proceeded to win four straight matches. The team avenged their 1967 30-6 loss to Wilbraham with a 28-16 victory. Then, in their highest point output in several years, the team crushed the Monson wrestlers by a score of 40-6. This year, Andover was on the schedule for the first time, and they were handily defeated, 27-15. The dual meets were closed out with a 25-17 victory over Worcester Academy on February 28.

On March 9, the team went to the Class A New England Tournament at Governor Dummer Academy, and took a fifth place among very strong competition. Jerry Hall '69 placed second in the 138 lb. class, while another man who will be returning next year, David Newcombe '69, won the New England Championship in the 167 lb. class. Co-captain Jim Cain '68 carried his 11-0 record into the finals of the 177 lb. class against Mount Hermon's David Wilson, the National Champion of the 167 lb. class, and was defeated in a tough, hard-fought match, thus giving Jim a second place.

The season was highlighted by some very excellent performances. Co-captain Dick Ailes '68 compiled a 7-2 dual meet record, while Jerry Hall, after dropping his first match, rebounded with nine consecutive victories. David Newcomb compiled a 10-2 record for the year, and Jim Cain sported an undefeated record through the regular season.

The team has nine returning Varsity men and much young material on the Junior Varsity level and is looking forward to one of its best seasons ever under the fine coaching and management of Mr. Knauf.

VETERAN SKIERS LEAD TEAM TO 5-3 RECORD

The eleven man Varsity Ski Team consisted of Captain Charles Johnson '68, Andy Wernick '68, Jim Clarke '68, Bill Buckley '68, Chris Rinehart '68, Phil McKeague '69, Derek Moats '70, Steve Goldberg '70, Nate Johnson '70, Ned Mulligan '70, and Jeff Shearer '70, and was coached by Mr. Henry Donais. This year's ski team was characterized by an all out team effort, resulting in a successful 5-3 record. Two main factors responsible for this spirited team effort were the coaching of Mr. Henry Donais, whose unfaltering leadership and guidance brought improvements in all the members' skiing, and the consistent efforts of returning lettermen Andy Wernick, Jim Clarke, Bill Buckley, Chris Rinehart, and especially Captain Charlie Johnson. They were the skiers who composed the nucleus of the team. Phil McKeague, Derek Moats, Terry Johnson, and Steve Goldberg provided the needed depth for the successful season. Outstanding skiing was demonstrated by Charlie Johnson, whose consistency was a decisive factor in several of the meets, and Andy Wernick, who placed first in five of the eight meets. The team displayed its real potential by winning all its home meets.

After opening the season with two wins, the team lost to Hotchkiss; it then came back to win the next two meets against the Amherst College Freshmen and Cushing Academy. Williston then lost two of the last three meets, to Lenox and Wilbraham but, while beating a powerful Mt. Hermon team, our skiers showed their true form and ability. The Williston team placed fifth in the giant slalom, seventh in the slalom, and fifth overall in the Second Annual Tri-State Interscholastics Ski Championships in which there were fifteen teams competing. Andy Wernick, skiing extremely well in the championships, placed second in the slalom and third in the giant slalom. These two efforts placed him second in the combined individual standings. Phil McKeague skied to a seventh in the giant slalom.

A vital part of the ski team effort was the managing staff, led by Marc Goldstein and Ken Bryant, who took care of the slopes and acted as gatekeepers during the meets. Although the team will lose this year's five top skiers, Coach Donais expects a successful season next year with the help of Mr. Keeler's J. V.'s.

SPRING SPORTS

LACROSSE LOOKS FORWARD TO STRONG SEASON

The 1968 Varsity Lacrosse Team is looking forward to a most successful season. The team, which is led by Co-captain Archer Bryant '68 and James Clarke '68, is hoping to compile an admirable record through the coaching of Mr. Patrick Archbald.

The attack will be led by Chip Keeney '68, one of last year's leading scorers. He will be assisted by Scott Griswold '68 and Dana Miquelle '69. Their ability to work together will have a definite effect on the team's record. These players have the skill to make the Williston team one of the highest scoring teams in New England, if they play up to their true potential.

Archer Bryant leads the mid-fielders, and his aggressive play will be an inspiration to all the other members of the team. The other mid-fielders will be: Ted Nellen '68, Doug McClellan '68, Glen Herosian '68, Ted Benoit '69, and Chris Kaltsas '70. They are the players who must connect the attack to the defense. Their ability to control the play will have a bearing on the team's final record.

Dave Urquhart '68, Mal Addoms '68, and Bill Brown '69, will comprise the defensive unit for the team. Their size and speed will help Co-captain goalie Jim Clarke keep the opponents from scoring. Jim had an excellent record last year, and his experience will help the new defense to get adjusted to their positions.

After the first two weeks of the season, the team looked very impressive. In their opening game, they beat Kingswood by a score of 10-4. Chip Keeney turned in a remarkable performance, scoring five goals. In their second game, the Varsity Lacrosse team defeated Mt. Hermon by a score of 10-6. Archer Bryant showed great hustle and Chip Keeney scored the tying, winning, and the safety goals. The third triumph of the season came over Marvelwood, 11-1.

The players, under the able coaching of Mr. Archbald, are expecting a good record. They have the experience and ability to make this season of lacrosse a very successful one.

MARSHALL AND STASZ LEAD TRACK TEAM

The Varsity Track Team, coached by Wilmot S. Babcock, is led by Co-captain Bruce Marshall '68, and he is backed up in the sprinting department by newcomers to the squad, Sam Greeley '69, Fran Killory '70, Hook Wheeler '68, and Dick Ailes '68.

Mr. Alan Shaler coaches the distance runners on the team. Co-captain Greg Stasz '68 is the team's initial spark among the distancemen trying to better the school record in the 880 yd. run that he set last Spring. Rich Halpern '68 and Chris Rinehart '68 strengthen the team in the mile and two mile events, while John Wadsworth '69 and Bill Morrison '69 run the 440 yd.

Coach Homer M. Culver '42 works with boys participating in field events. Tom Moninger '68 is the only veteran weightman returning to throw the shot this season. John Meade '70, Bill Borkon '68, and Ted Babcock '68 throw the discus while Worth Durgin '68, Ted Babcock, John Gilbert '68, and Duncan McMartin '69 high-jump for the team.

Dale Toohey, from the University of Massachusetts, coaches the hurdlers for the team. Thad Carhart '68, Hook Wheeler, and Peter Urquhart '70 are Williston's hurdlers.

Broad-jumping for the team this Spring is Co-captain Marshall, Sam Greeley and Fran Killory.

The 880 yd. Relay Team is a strong one this year with runners Marshall, Greeley, Ailes, and Wheeler.

Certainly the fine coaching of coaches Babcock, Shaler, Toohey, and Culver must be mentioned. In the past, they have always shown excellence in developing newcomers and in bringing out the full potential of the veterans; certainly their ability will continue to aid the team.

RETURNING LETTERMEN LEAD BASEBALL TEAM

The 1968 Varsity Baseball Team has high hopes for a very successful season. The team is coached by Mr. Carpenter and is highlighted by many of last year's stars and some new members to the team.

The team is led by Captain Peter Downs '68, assisted by letter winners from last year's team: Tom Wallace '68, Michael Timm '68, Bill Fifield '68, and Ted Motyl '68. Peter does some of the pitching, and during the games that he does not pitch he is stationed in center field where his strong arm most benefits the club. Doing the rest of the pitching are Michael Timm, Bob Smith '69, and Chip Costello '69 who was brought up from last year's J. V. squad. Timm plays second base when not pitching while Smith is stationed in the outfield. Doing most of the catching is Ted Motyl, playing Varsity for his third year. The infield consists of Phil McKeague '69, Gary Timm '70, Jim McNally '69, Michael Timm, and Bill Fifield. The outfield has such players as: Peter Downs, Tom Wallace, Bob Smith, Bob Heitman '68, Dave Lyman '68, and Jim Davenport '68.

Mr. Carpenter's coaching ability certainly helps the players to adjust to the situations that the team faces, and he can be depended on to lead the team to fine season after season.

Fifield warms up at game.

NEW MEMBERS AID TEAM

With the addition of several new boys, the 1968 Tennis Team is looking forward to a successful season. Captain George Merrow '68, Ted McMillen '68, Andy Gerald '69, David Guernsey '70 compose the returning veterans. The helpful additions to the team are Nuri Hamamcioglu '68, Tom Hoyle '68, an English exchange student, Tom Griggs '68, and David Bates '71. Unfortunately, no boys came up from the Junior Varsity team this year, so the new additions were much needed.

The players practiced form and technique in the gymnasium, where a tennis net was set up, for the first few days. Unlike last year, the weather was good this Spring, and the team was able early to get outside to play. Coach A. L. Hepworth instructed the team on timing and correct stroke form and was able to hold inter-squad matches in order to make up the tennis ladder.

George Merrow is the top man on the team and appears to be headed for a fine personal record. The team is particularly strong in the first three or four men, and the doubles are also strong.

The Varsity Tennis Team is unexpectedly strong this year. With the combination of experience, skill, and good coaching, the team looks forward to a successful year.

MOST EXPERIENCED TEAM IN YEARS BOLSTERS GOLF

The 1968 Varsity Golf team, coached by Mr. Varnum and Mr. Campagna, is expecting a very successful season, as they lost but two players from last year's team. Leading the large number of returning members is Captain Gary Burnett '68. The only other two Seniors on the team are Cary Jubinville '68 and Dave McGrath '68. Upper Middlers returning to the squad include Jim Strycharz '69, Bob Fillmore '69, Jim Moffett '69, Bill Goldman '69 after sustaining a leg injury last year, and Neville Cramer '70. The addition of Ned Mulligan '71 also bolsters the team.

With all but one member of this year's team being a member of last year's team, the members of the golf squad feel that their experience under Mr. Varnum will greatly benefit the team.

The golf team is one of the most worthwhile activities that can be found at Williston. Not only does golf provide the student with a great source of exercise, but golf also offers an escape from the daily routine of daily life. Because of the superior quality of the team, Coach Varnum believes that the golf played by his team will be outstanding.

After the first three weeks of the season, the Golf team sports a perfect slate of 3-0, and they hope to keep the streak alive throughout the year. Highlighting players thus far have been Gary Burnett and Jim Moffett, shooting 72 and 71 respectively.

Captain Burnett prepares to stroke ball in practice.

SAILING EXPANDS SCHEDULE

The 1968 Sailing Team is one of great potential, although it is considered to be in a building-year. Last year, the team lost all but one member of the team and with so few returning members, the team knew that this year's performance would depend on the new squad.

In Beau Evans, the captain, the team has an experienced sailor who missed representing Bermuda in the World Junior Championships by one place. For the first time, the captain conducted frequent classes for prospective skippers in the Fall and this may prove the deciding factor in the team's general success. Many of the boys have shown great improvement already in early practices and should do much better in the future. The team has many excellent prospects for the three skippers' positions. Included among these are Larry Ferguson, who led the Junior Varsity last year and sailed frequently at the Varsity level. Along with Larry, Donald Kaufman shows excellent prospects. These two boys are underclassmen, and in future years, they will surely strengthen the team.

The team has meets scheduled with such schools as Deerfield, Choate, Kent, Suffield, Tabor and Lenox, and the newer schools such as Moses Brown, Laurel Crest, Dublin, Proctor, and Mount Hermon. This is probably the longest and toughest schedule any Williston Varsity team has ever faced. The highlight of the season will come on May 11 with the traditional meet with arch-rival St. George's School of Newport, Rhode Island.

The team has been lucky so far in that the ice on Norwich Lake was gone before the Spring Term started and the boats were all out on the first day, a change from previous years. Also, with the expert assistance of Mr. Peter Richmond, the docks were all in place and in good condition before the first meet, and the boats were in top shape. After a complete overhaul, all the boats are in their finest shape ever, and certainly Mr. Richmond's efforts must be applauded.

The two able coaches of the team, Mr. David Stevens and Mr. John Wilson, are both expert sailors and coaches who should, after many years of experience, generate excitement and provide excellent competition when leading the sailors against the opposition.

1968 COMMENCEMENT!

"It's a good thing to get in and dig, but let's know what we're digging for, and be careful where we throw the dirt." Such were the words of Ed Knights, valedictorian of the Class of 1968, as he spoke to a Commencement Day gathering.

The Senior Class graduated from Williston on Thursday morning, June 6, 1968. For some, the day was the termination of five years at Williston — for others, the road was but one year long. But for all of them, this was the day that they were, indeed, given the shovel "to get in and dig," and they alone are to decide where the dirt falls.

The Commencement Day chapel service was conducted by Williston's chaplain, The Reverend Roger Angus Barnett. As the chaplain spoke, many Seniors' minds were undoubtedly preoccupied with the thoughts of the final, long awaited moment — the handshake with the Headmaster, the diplomas in their grasps. Mr. Barnett stressed that the challenge of commencement is each graduate's commitment to others, not to self alone.

"Responsibility," they had heard. Their years at Williston had been designed to develop the boys so that they could accept both the academic and the social responsibility that would soon be placed upon them. Then, on this day, the boys finished their years in secondary school, ready for college and the added responsibilities that college will bestow upon them.

The first outdoor Commencement Day exercises were highlighted by the speeches of Valedictorian Edwin Knights and of the distinguished speaker Mr. Dan Lacy. Mr. Lacy is a noted author and the Senior Vice President of the McGraw-Hill Company of New York. He appealed to the seniors to realize that their commitment to man and society is now upon them as men today.

The program was concluded with the awarding of diplomas to the Seniors and their last farewells to the faculty, who had done so much for them over the past years.

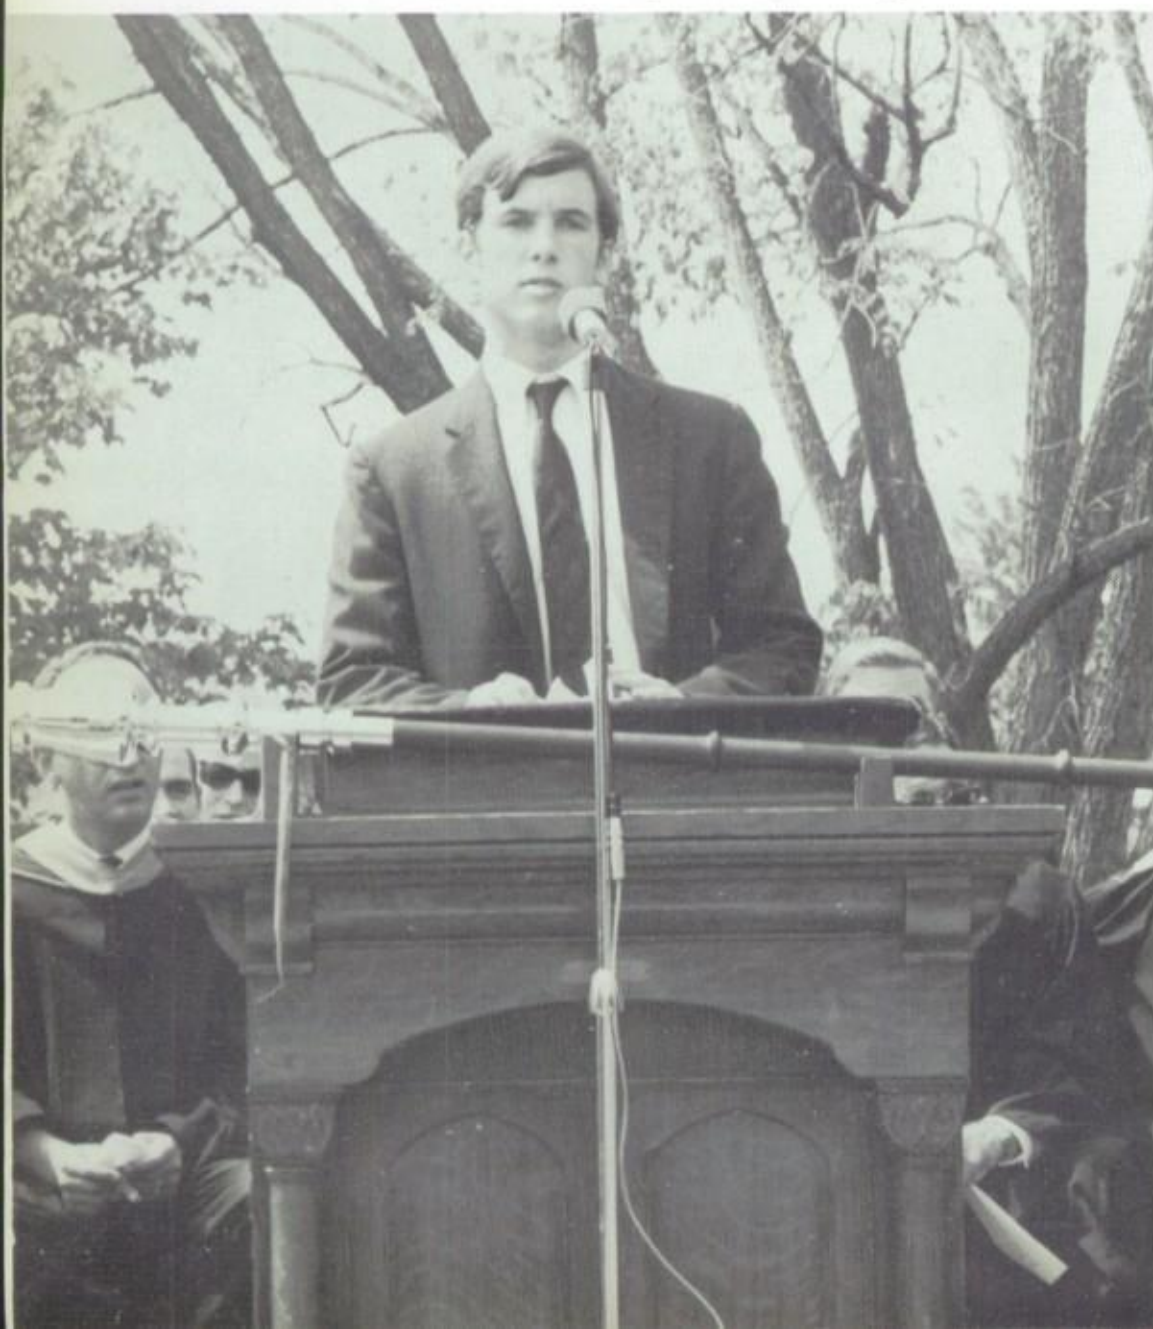

The beginning of the end.
